REBUILDS OLD MARION HOUSE

Click Property on State Street
Made into Attractive Dwelling.

"Genial" J. D. Jones, seems like a fitting name for Marion's oldest, in point of service, building contractors. For over 30 years Mr. Jones has devoted his time in Marion and Delaware counties to erecting new homes and making other homes more livable by repairing or rebuilding them.

The one illustrated above is an Marion land mark located on South State street commonly referred to as the Click property but now owned by Frank Schaffner. To those who recall its former appearance its transformation will be most surprising.

Even while adding more space, more light and convenience were obtained and the general design made more modern in appearance and utility. The expense in materials was not great nor were the occupants long inconvenienced.

The list of remodeled and repaired homes might be continued indefinitely as throughout the more than 30 years such work has been almost constantly underway. At times as many as 17 carpenters were employed.

At present only a few men can be kept at work but Mr. Jones retains a complete equipment of machines such as sander, cleaner and concrete mixer ready for use. The workmen are now making some extensive changes in the club rooms of the Masonic temple.

Some of the more elaborate homes constructed under the supervision of Mr. Jones are the model electrical home in Vernon Heights now occupied by Charles W. Kramer and the J. Harold Prendergast home also on Vernon Heights boulevard.

One of Mr. Jones' most frequently demanded services is that of new roofs. For this work he specializes in Genasco Latite composition shingles which are applied without removing the old roof. A large amount of this material has been used by him and no roof on which it has been used has given cause for complaint.

Mr. Jones' home and office are at 637 Irey avenue, where he may be reached by anyone wishing an estimate of the cost of erecting, remodeling or repairing a building.

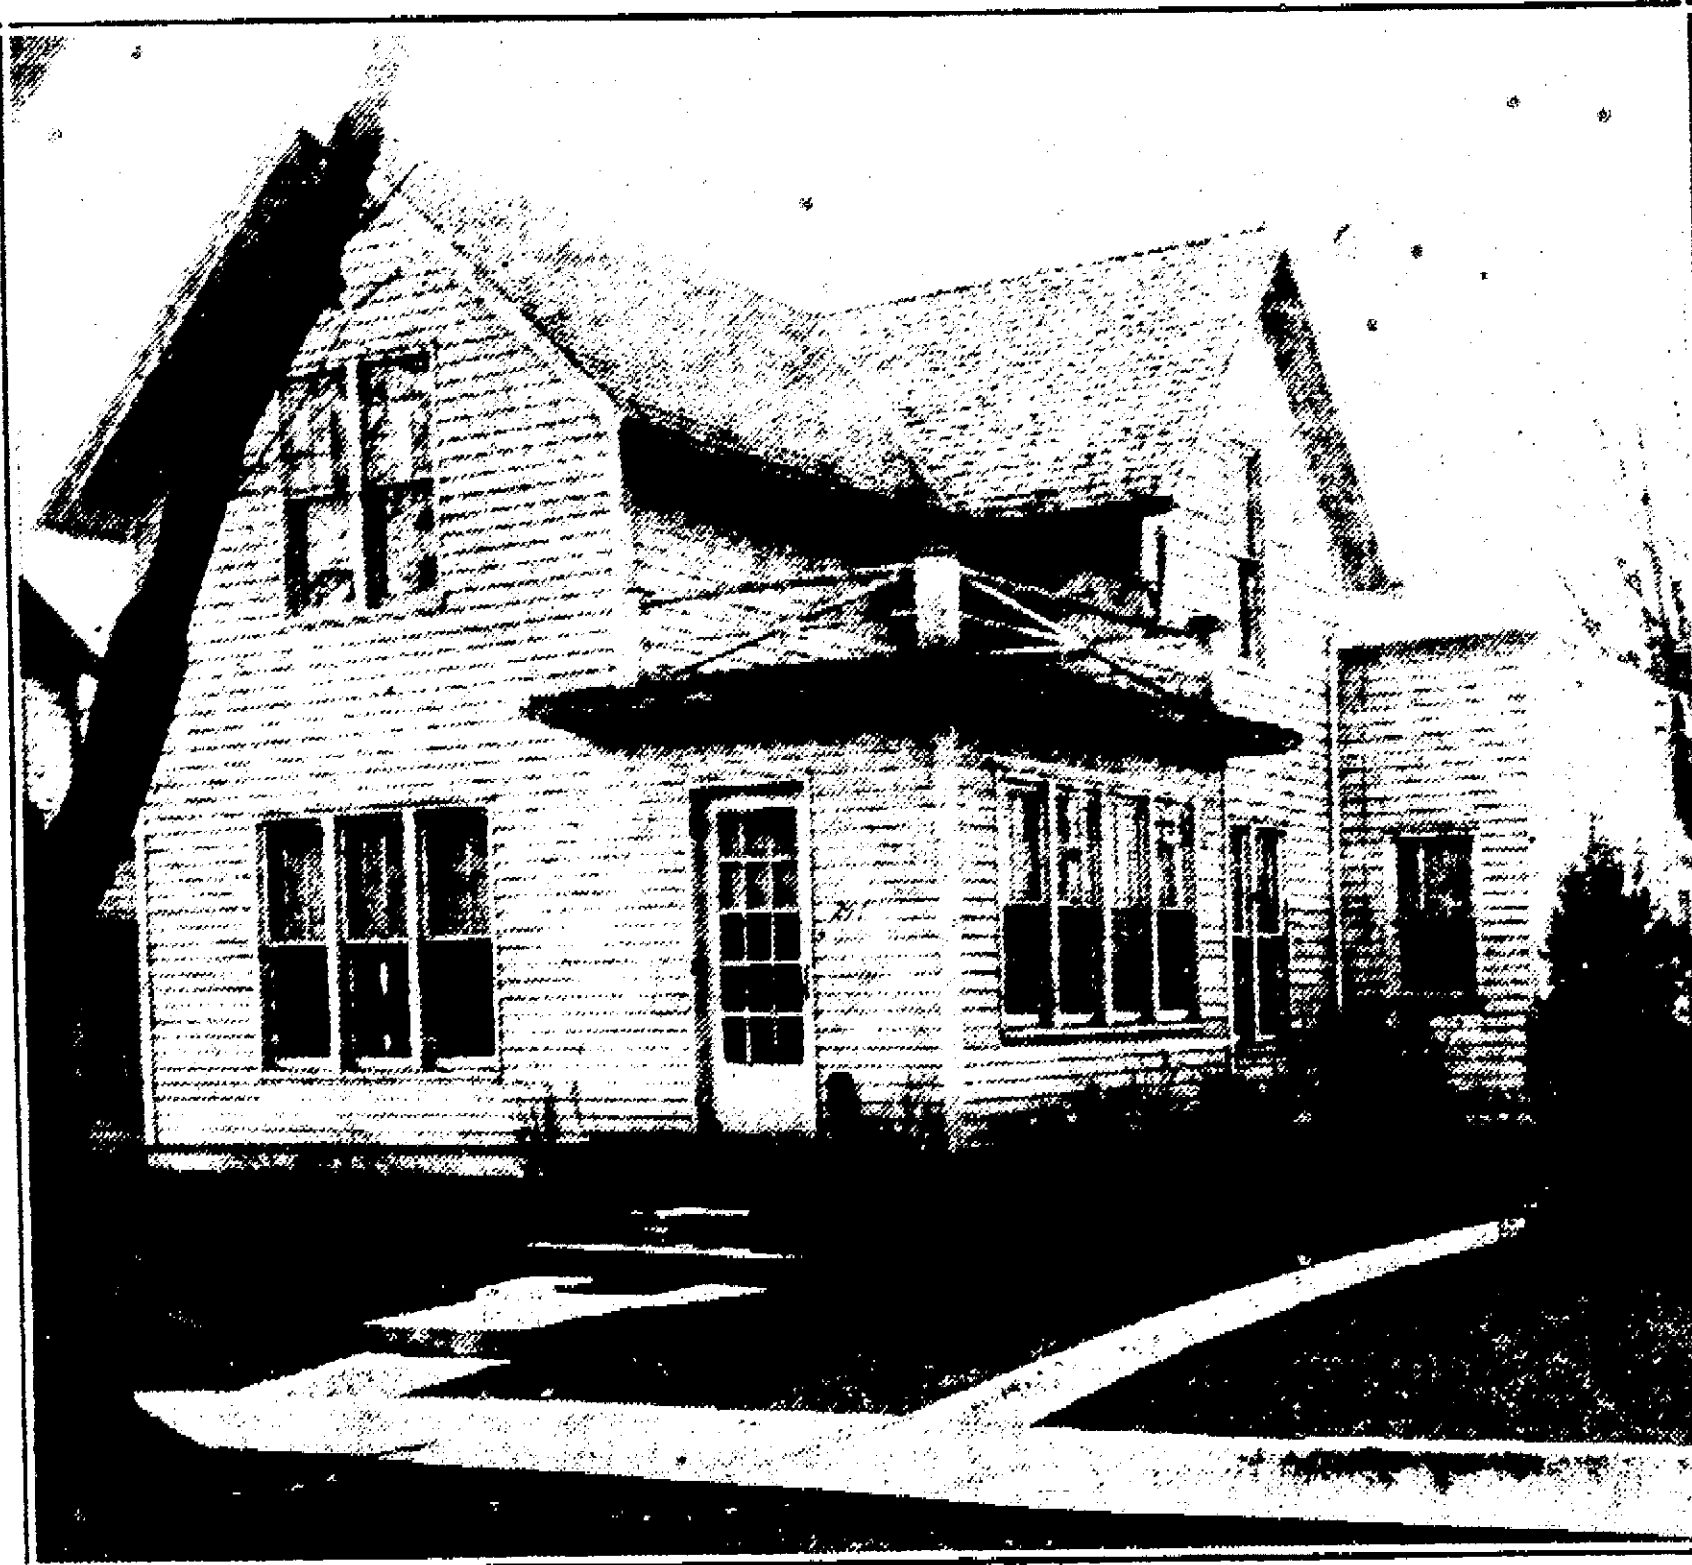

GROUSO READY WITH ADVICE ON PAPER

Dealer in Wall Coverings Says Harmony in Color Must Be Keynote.

"Which Wall Paper is the best?" W. N. Grouso, decorator, 125 1/2 S. Main street, says that this question is asked many times during a season, and at times is hard to answer.

The woman who is selecting wall paper for her home is the only one who knows every requirement to be filled. She may to the best of her ability, tell us how it looks, but we cannot visualize it as she can, she may leave out many important details, and we cannot know the personality of the persons that are to use it, and so satisfy them as

HOUSE APPEARS LIKE NEW

PLAN MIXES STYLES EFFECTIVELY

A judicious combination of architectural styles has here produced an interesting house with a modern English plan.

Colonial detail predominates, but there is Tudor inspiration in the three windows serving the kitchen and hall on the first floor and the bedroom and stair hall on the second. The resulting harmony is obvious.

The dining room and living room are so placed that they may be used almost as a single room upon occasion. Upstairs are three bedrooms and two baths, one bath being equipped with a shower and connecting directly with the adjoining bedroom.

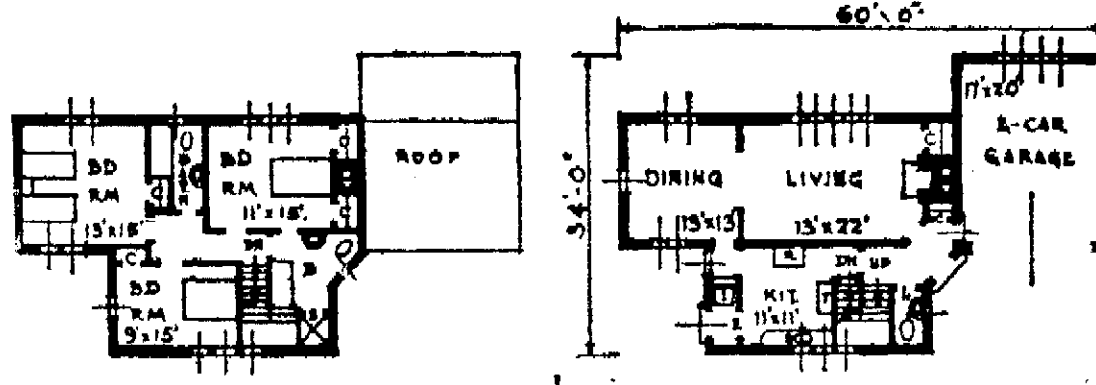

All rooms are cross-ventilated and sunny. Downstairs there is a lavatory convenient to both living room and kitchen.

The exterior is of white brick, whitewashed over all in such a manner as to allow parts of the natural brick to be exposed. The woodwork is weathered gray, preferably of oak.

The chimney is of whitewashed brick, capped by deep red chimney pots. An interesting feature is the railing around the flat roof area. The roof is preferably of slate in dark blue grays, intermingled with which are some sepals and dark slennas to break the monotony.

her judgment can. However, when all the facts are before us, we do give advice, when asked, to the best of our ability.

But we would suggest when selecting wall paper patterns and colorings that due regard be given at all times to the furnishings of the room. Particularly window and door hangings and the floor rugs. Harmony in color must be the keynote, and lines in decorating must be in keeping to obtain the desired end.

Spandrels in the tall window motive facing the street are of terra cotta or carved wood, as the owner desires.

While the two-car garage could be placed elsewhere on the property, the harmony of the indicated arrangement would be lessened. A porch in style with the house might then replace it.

The house should face the north, if possible, to take advantage of the south side for a garden and a possible terrace across living room and dining room fronts. The lot may be 75 by 150 feet or larger.

Estimates of the cost of the house vary from $10,000 to $12,000, governed by particular local conditions.

Lights at Entrance Add to Home Beauty

One of the most attractive additions to a home and an improvement that need not be expensive is the addition of entrance lights on each side of the porch or door. They add a modern tone to the house and imbue a sense of hospitality by their welcoming cheer. The size depends upon the type of entrance and the modernizer must be careful to make this improvement with the thought in mind that the lights must harmonize with the general appearance of the entrance of the home.

PLANT LONG ESTABLISHED HERE HOLDS CONFIDENCE OF PUBLIC IN REGION

A unique manner of displaying commodities now available at modern up-to-date lumber yards of the present day is a display room now taking form in the office building of the Avenue Lumber & Supply Co., located on Bellefontaine avenue at the Pennsylvania railroad.

Finished in a bright color scheme of light green and white this room will reveal the novel convenience and security of combination screen and storm doors, the beauty and permanence of Johns-Manville rigid asbestos shingles and several popular types of face brick. One corner is devoted to a modern glass display. Enterprise fast color guaranteed paint and enamels is another item which will have a prominent position along with builders hardware of modernistic and other late designs.

Retail Section

In conjunction with the office is a large room stocked with enamel, paints, builders hardware and supplies. These items are retailed directly to the public. Just across the street from the main office is a building with fine large windows in which is displayed roofing, screen and storm doors, paints and other supplies.

The Marion County Lumber Co. a concern established cognizance by residents of Marion and vicinity was purchased on March 5, 1920, by a firm now known as the Avenue Lumber & Supply Co. F. M. Brabson assumed the responsibility as manager at this time. The company handles all nationally advertised products and adheres rigidly to the policy of giving its patrons materials and supplies of high quality. This, combined with prompt service, dexterity of management and some changes from old methods of doing business has rapidly earned for the firm a well-founded reputation which has to a large degree been responsible for the rapid expansion of the company which is facing the future with a bright aspect.

Long Experience

Mr. Brabson has been associated in lumber business for the last 15 years. He is thoroughly acquainted with all lumber and mill work. For 10 years previous to his arrival in Marion he was connected with the Logan County Lumber & Supply Co. at Bellefontaine, O.

The Avenue Lumber & Supply Co. is distributors of all Johns-Manville products in this district.

These include the famous rigid asbestos shingles and wall tile. When reroofing one can avoid dust, litter and expense of removing the old roof. Lay Johns-Manville shingles right over your old roof which acts as an insulating blanket, keeping house cool in summer and warm in winter. There is no up keep expense and such a roof will last a lifetime.

There is always a large supply of Four Square and Long Bell trade marked lumber on hand. Four square lumber is quite convenient especially for remodeling, enlarging or repair work. As the name implies it is true and square, all measurements being exact. It is shipped in protective cartons.

All lumber and supplies are protected from the weather by huge storage sheds which adjoin the office. One being the largest in this section of Ohio, extends over 16,750 square feet of ground.

Many are the articles and services of especial benefit to the farmer. Pittsburgh fencing, either the Stiff-Stay or Hinge Joint type, is armored against rust with a heavy coat of zinc that will not flake or peel. Notch-back steel fence posts a Marion product manufactured by the Pollack Steel Co., also cedar or creosote dipped yellow pine fence posts, numerous varieties of weather proof, sanitary brooder houses and hog houses of Rowe manufacture are appreciated for lasting construction and profit making design.

Aid to Farmers

Any farmer planning on building or repairing his barn or other farm buildings will save time and money by selecting barn door track, hangers and other like equipment from the complete showing of such hardware.

Rare beauty and real safety—an unusual combination in lawn fencing, neat picket fencing adds to the artistic beauty of a yard, increases property value and is a protection by keeping children in and dangers out.

Charming designs are being offered in pergolas, arches and trellises of genuine red cedar. This wood is rot-proof and will not warp. Its velvety surface holds paint remarkably well.

No sanding, staining or waxing is necessary when Cromar oak flooring is laid. It is factory finished and ready for use when laid. Being waxed on the under side it draws no dampness, will not warp, bulge or leave cracks. The unfinished oak flooring bears the famous Century trademark.

Plans and estimates on buildings of any size may be freely obtained without obligations whatsoever. The company's planning department is for that purpose. Suggestions and figures concerning remodeling will be supplied at any time.

According to Mr. Brabson prices on lumber and all construction materials are 35 per cent less than those of same quality materials in 1920. Since prices are at this low level it is advisable for those who have considered building, modernizing, enlarging or repairing to do so this season.

By using wall board that seemingly waste space in the attic may be converted into a quiet guest room, sewing room for mother or nursery for the children. Enclosing of a back porch will result in a cozy little breakfast nook or perhaps an additional bedroom if necessary.

The entire home may be given a new appearance and brought up to date by covering the weather-beaten siding with stained shingles. Such homes are cooler in summer and easy to keep warm in winter for the original siding acts as an insulating blanket.

Expense involved by any of these suggestions is small and greatly outweighed by added enjoyment which you will derive from your home.

Aim Legislation To Aid Tax Payers in 29 States

CHICAGO, Ill.—The real estate tax payer is now having his day. Referred by the highest official in 29 states, cheered by hopeful legislation in 34 states, and promised aid by local real estate boards throughout the country, the real tax payer, who is America's biggest taxpayer, may live to see adjustment in this field in his favor.

The National Association of Real Estate Boards, long interested in bringing about revisions in tax laws that will be proper for everyone, has just completed and released a survey showing that great activity is going on in many states on behalf of the man who owns the land.

Sixteen states now have bills before their legislatures providing for an income tax that will obtain governmental support from citizens who now go practically free from taxation. These are states that have never had income taxes. The bills, although they will tax income-property owners, as well as people who do not own real property will, in the opinion of their sponsors, raise new funds to defray government costs, and thus make it possible to decrease taxes on real property.

Not For New Costs

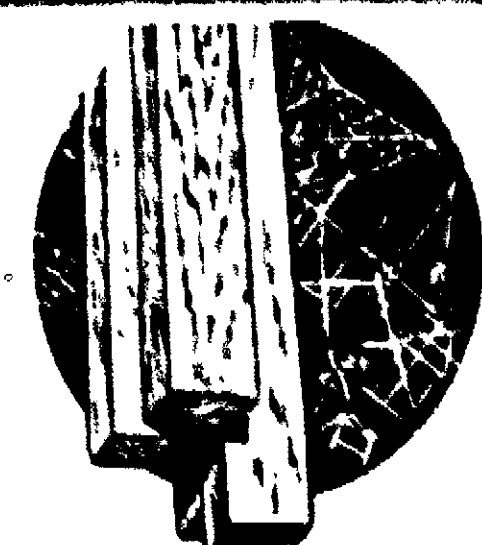

In these states all action along these lines is predicated on the idea that governmental expenditure will not increase nearly as much as the amounts raised through such income taxes, so that real estate can actually be relieved.

Other states also seeking to aid the real property owner at this time are considering bills that provide for the payment of property taxes in installments. This plan, which has been eyed with favor by the National Association of Real Estate Boards' officials, is now in successful operation in Toronto, Canada, where people find it easier to pay such taxes through the year than annually.

Practically every state has some pending bill that seeks to help the owner of real property. The appointment of commissions to investigate the state's tax commission, the creation of state tax commissions, the investigation of present expenditures, a proposal that intangibles be taxed directly, the reduction of assessed values and other measures are being pushed throughout the country by legislators, who feel that the time has come when someone other than the owner of the land should pay the bulk of the country's bills.

An electric time switch has been invented to shut off a radio receiver after a set interval for the benefit of persons who like to listen in after they retire at night.

LUMBER Wallboard — Roofing

In fact the prices on all materials are at rock bottom. That needed roof or extra room is NOW available at an amazing low figure. We estimate without obligation.

Just Things

—BY EDNA S. DUTTON—

Martyrs

THEY are times when one really enjoys being a martyr, or at least thinking themselves one. The "ouch" comes when no one seems to be impressed with your story. The snowy, rainy night this week afforded one would be martyr of the fair sex an excellent opportunity to sympathize with herself. She stood on a cold pavement waiting an endless time, or at least it seemed endless, for a bus, and then just before its arrival, she slipped her skirt tails and slushed homeward sans gaiters and umbrella. Of course she had visions of a "quiet" sign on the door of the hospital room and her family and friends gnawing their fingernails to the quick in an agony of waiting. It couldn't possibly result in anything short of pneumonia and it might be worse. And then fickle fate or whatever looks after these would-be martyrs, saw to it that there wasn't even a sneeze.

Blouses

US girls are becoming blouse minded so the fashion marts would have one believe. They're really quite pretty and will likely be welcomed as a change. There is much to be thankful for though, for a couple of eye-fuls will tell you that they are a far cry from those of yesteryear. There are folks who remember those remnants of the stockade era, the high-necked shirtwaist and the stock collar. How one labored over the cold for it to come in a collarless, starched pleated front and the high stocks which could be set upon by an elephant without so much as being denied, and then how all labor was lost if the "iron rubbed off at the last moment." Tears were not uncommon on ironing day in that age, dinners were ruined and even peaceful housecats, who never knew what it was to be spoken harshly to, were completely overtaken for the day, over just one little wrinkle in an otherwise perfectly ironed shirtwaist.

Vacation?

WITH one quarter of the year gone and another beginning, isn't it about time to take a peek at the vacation fund and decide whether you will go by land or sea?

Grand Prairie Organization Has Farm Program.

Members of the Grand Prairie Parent-Teachers association held a meeting at the school building north of the city last night. Karl S. Bolander To Speak On Fine Arts Program Tuesday

KARL S. BOLANDER, director of the Columbus Art school and the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts, has accepted an invitation from the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs to be guest speaker on the fine arts program Tuesday night, April 14, in the Star auditorium. Mr. Bolander, a former Marion man, has given several delightful lectures here since his appointment to the directorship of the Columbus school.

He will speak on "Correlating of the Arts," a subject which will touch on community art, the keynote of the art contribution. Numerous and interesting exhibits are being arranged by the art department of the federation of which Mrs. Walter E. Hane is chairman. The circuit exhibition of the Chicago world's fair poster will arrive from Nashville, Tenn. Museum of Art to be here in time for the fine arts celebration.

The exhibit includes 61 chosen posters which will be shown at the 1932 World's Fair in Chicago, and is loaned to Marion through the courtesy of the Chicago Art Institute.

Among the exhibits will be displays from the public and parochial school art department, the Marion Art club and the Occupational-Therapy department of White Oak Sanatorium, as well as several individual local exhibits.

The most outstanding local contribution will be the loan exhibit of Herman Atkins McNeil of New York City, through the courtesy of its owners, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. McNeil of this city. Herman Atkins McNeil, dean of American sculptors, ranks among the three or four great sculptors in the country today. He is a cousin of M. C. McNeil.

MYSTERIOUS WAYE

CHAPTER 15
Cocksure John Waye

"You mustn't be a party to such wickedness," continued Waye, looking at each in turn. "You must be guided by your higher selves. You, Simon; you, Manolo; you, Fanny; you, Gypsy; you must each follow the counsel of your heart. Give me up to the police, and each of you will be white enough to say, 'The games are up, and this is where I got out.'"

"Not that you would get off, Simon, when I'd said my little say about one or two dozen small matters in both England and America. You'd swing Dr. Theodore Charters—and you know what that feels like, Simon."

"What about you, Mr. James?" he continued.

"Self-defense!"

"Self-defense?" Giuseppe Frattini for example?"

"He got another gun to his hand, under the counter," cried Mr. James.

"He turned from the counter to get what you ordered, and you bravely shot him in the back. The man..." Blustered Mr. James.

"Yes. And the woman who ran screaming from the inner room? You faced her like a man, or rather a gunman, and shot her in the chest and face. The child that came after her? You shot that child of seven—in self-defense, too?"

"Children are rather a specialty of yours, aren't they, Gryde?"

John Waye's eyes blazed as he added softly, "No, you won't get off, Gummam Gryde..."

"And you, Manolo. Accessories—before and after—here today in this country. That insurance money was a nasty business at Santos. All obviously poisoned—and with the same unknown drug, eh? And some had sidekicks in Bahia, not to mention Chicago. I think you'll get 'life,' Manolo, if you don't get death."

"What would they give our nation when they knew she was mother superior of the 'convent' of unsavory memory? When they found out that our nation was Frisco Fanny herself, and heard some tales I could prove."

The matron's pleasant face turned to a mask of evil and ferocity.

"Dye think you'll live to get safe on to that scaffold?" she asked.

"And Nurse Jones? Why, there'll be a positive scramble for her, when they know she's Louise the Lady who worked on the outside, in her quiet nurse's uniform, and brought more nuns to Fanny's 'convent' than any 10 of the men put together."

"Say, Boss," interrupted Nurse Jones. "This gink's certainly got to fall sick."

Then suddenly springing to her feet, she darted a hand towards John Waye's face.

"Shoot him right now, Jimmy," she cried.

"Silly impulsive girl!" chided Waye.

"No, your one hope is to take the greatest care of me, and keep me in a good humor."

"And the innocent man?" again queried the doctor in a curiously quiet voice.

"He'll swing."

"Ring the bell, Gryde," said John Waye.

"What for?"

"Because I tell you to."

Mr. James did so.

"When the maid, or whoever it is, comes, tell her you want Dr. Studley," he continued, turning to Charters.

"I don't want him," was the reply.

"No, but I do."

"Look here, is this house yours or mine?" blustered the doctor.

"Mine, practically," was the reply.

The door opened, and the doctor's secretary entered.

"Did you ring for me, sir?" asked the girl.

"Kindly ask Dr. Studley if he'd be good enough to step this way. If he has a minute to spare," said Dr. Charters quietly.

The pale girl retired. John Waye broke the tense silence.

"So, on the whole, doctor, perhaps you'll all decide to be deaf to conscience," he observed in a conversational bantering tone. "For you are a lying dog, doctor. Continued Mr. Waye pleasantly. "And you, Manolo, are a smaller, meaner, more cowardly hound. And as for Mr. James, I think we'll call him a foul, obscene and cowardly hyena and..."

Nurse Jane sprang to her feet.

"Say, do you three call yourselves men—to sit there and let that hi-jacker..."

There was a knock at the inner door, an instant silence fell as it opened and Dr. Studley entered.

"You sent for me, chief?" he said, glancing round.

"Yes, Studley. Our wayward humorist, here, won't be happy until you have joined the circle upon which he has intruded. Now, Mr. Waye, we are busy people."

"Good morning, Dr. Studley," said John Waye. "What I wanted to ask you, is whether you consider me to be insane in the ordinary lay sense of the word?"

Dr. Studley glanced at the expressionless face of Dr. Charters. Since the chief had sent for him, without other message, presumably it was his intention that this queer chap should be given a straight-forward answer.

"Most certainly not," he replied.

"Would you say I was insane in the technical sense of being of abnormal and unhealthy mind?"

"I would not," was the immediate reply. "Quite the contrary."

"Thank you, doctor. Do you regard me as a perfectly healthy man, physically speaking—one whom you'd recommend as a first-class 'life' to any insurance company?"

"Undoubtedly," replied Dr. Studley.

"And last but not least, doctor, would it surprise you if I died suddenly... were found dead in my bed here, one morning?"

To Be Continued.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

SATURDAY, and bright and sunny, and I was glad of it. A fella don't like to have it rain on Saturday, for that is the only time he has to play except every morning and night and on Sunday. I let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth and put on my short pants. If I was a girl I could throw my clothes up in the air and get under them and give a wiggle and I would be dressed, but I am glad I ain't. I couldn't take my clothes off to go swimming, and if I could take them off I couldn't take them off running down the hill to the river. If I tried it my dress would get around my head and I might run into a tree or something. If a fella can't be a growed up he is lucky that he can keep on being a boy. I would rather be a boy, cows and everything, than to be a girl. Girls would rather be girls than boys, but girls aren't so very brave.

The bunch was all at my house by the time I had finished feeding my face, but Banty wasn't along, so we all hiked out to go to his house, and when we got there he was setting up in a rocking chair and some quilts, and his mother told us that she had got to go and do her Sunday marketing, and he would be glad if we would stay with Banty till she got back, so we said we would be glad to, and she told Youngles and Maggie and Feeble to see that Banty behaved himself or maybe he would have a relapse, so they said they would, and when she had went we made the Lost Bag of Trips go up and stand at the corner to watch for her and he was to whistle on his fingers when he saw her coming home, and then we could stop whatever we were doing.

Feeble went out in the kitchen and found some molasses and said she was going to make some candy, so whilst they were in the kitchen making it we went out in the yard, and Red pulled the hose out of their shed and we connected it up and we were playing fireman and trying to squirt it over the top of the house, and Banty sat in the window grinning at us and I wanted the hose, but Red wouldn't give it to me because he got it first, so we were wrestling to see who would get it, and I grabbed the nozzle and stuck it down inside of his pants, and it must have been cold because he let out a warbort like a wild Indian and grabbed it out and when I reached for it he swung around to get it away from me and the stream went into the window and hit Banty and knocked him out of his chair, and just then the Lost Bag of Trips whistled and we dropped the hose and went over the fence like a flock of chickens and were gone. When we got up on Lorain street we saw Banty's mother coming out of the store, so we knew the Lost Bag of Trips was a lie, and we went looking for him but didn't find him, and we didn't see the girls so I don't know what Banty's mother done to them.

PANAMA CITY—The reason for man's inability to throw off malaria will be sought in monkeys. The Gorgas Memorial Institute has advertised for 1,000 of them on which to conduct experiments. Malaria affects monkeys much the same as humans.

"Heart of a Wife"

By ADELE GARRISON

Mary's "Temper-Fit" Causes Madge To Wonder If Veritson Has Returned to His "Old Tricks."

I KNEW better than to reproach Mary by word or look for the outrageous language she was using in her temper-fit. In the first place she was in her own room—I have always believed that there should be one bit of individual space for each person in the world, where with door locked he or she can polish the furniture or kick it, and indulge in laughter or tears, prayer, or profanity as one's whim dictates. In the second place, I am so bewildered by the words and phrases of the vocabulary owned and used by modern youth that I do not consider myself qualified to sit in judgment upon their speech. I can only "hear 'em and weep."

So I sat quietly in the corner where I had tucked myself, and let the visals of her wrath uncork themselves one by one and flow out until the last one was empty, and suddenly silent like a run-down motor, she looked at me curiously as she faced me in one of her turns of pacing the floor. She stopped stock still and stared at me, then broke into laughter and tempestuous as her anger had been.

"A Trifle Excited?"

"Honestly, Auntie Madge," she said when she could speak, "I'd forgotten that you were here. That shows what a 'mad' I had on."

"You did appear a trifle excited, I admit," I told her, smiling. "May a mere aunt inquire what the trouble seems to be? I gathered from some of your mumblings that some feminine person possessed of unusual formations in legs and knees, and somewhat emaciated, was in danger of having her facial formation altered. Am I right?"

She giggled half hysterically.

"Say! do you know that's hot stuff! It's a lot better than what was left I was calling that dame."

"Long-legged, knock-kneed, skinny imitation vamp, I believe," I answered demurely. "At least, I think those were the words you applied to her. I gather that you don't entirely approve of her. Do you know her well?"

"Know her?" Mary repeated disdainfully. "Know her? I'll tell the listening world I know her as well as if I'd jotted her and put her together. I could have made a better job with a wooden doll at that, than that old beldame Nature turned out when she put her across."

"Do you want to tell me about it?" I asked. "I'm not asking you confidence; and I won't want you to tell me a word unless you wish, but—sometimes it helps."

With a swift, swooping motion she caught me to her and her warm young arms nearly squeezed the breath out of me.

"You are the most 'understanding' woman in the world," she declared extravagantly, "and of course I want to tell you everything. I was going to come and ask your advice pretty soon anyhow, for I can't make up the—thing— I—park—under—my hat—when— I—wear one as to what this is all about, anyway. Is Noel just naturally getting nutty or is his father's influence?"

til his thirty-fifth year, was so tightly Noel's that no one in the world could take it away from him unless by his own consent.

Mary also was so firmly reinstated in her position that I knew even the great producer could not drop her from it without mutilating himself publicly. And to all appearances the reconciliation between himself and his son was as complete as his apparent approval of his marriage after two or three years, of Mary and Noel.

Mary was looking at me curiously. "Don't you want to commit yourself on that question?" she asked.

Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, O., March 21.—Three basketball teams from northern Ohio and one from southern Ohio, survivors of the first round games in the ninth annual Ohio interscholastic cage tournament, met here today to decide the class A championship of the state.

Canton McKinley, Akron West and Lima Central were the three victorious northern teams while Portsmouth will carry the hopes of southern fans into the semi-final round this afternoon.

In class B the situation is evenly divided. Youngstown Fitch and Newton Falls are still in the running from up state while McCornellsville and Lancaster St. Mary's, defending champion, remain from southern sections.

Semi-final games in both classes will be played this afternoon with the final contests, preceded by a four shooting contest, on tonight's program at the coliseum.

In yesterday's first round games in the A class Canton triumphed over Hamilton, 25 to 21, in an overtime game; Lima Central nosed out Columbus Central, 22 to 20; Portsmouth won from Toledo Waite, 30 to 21 and Zanesville lost to Akron W. 31 to 21.

Lancaster, ad defense of its class B title yesterday by downing Toledo Whitner, 27 to 19; Newton Falls won from West Milton, 22 to 19; Youngstown Fitch stopped Stewart, 30 to 22, and McCornellsville triumphed over Bluffton, 25 to 24 in a hard fought game.

McCornellsville and Fitch met at 1 o'clock today with Newton Falls and Lancaster playing one hour later. In class A Canton and Lima play at 3 o'clock and Portsmouth and Akron West at 4 p. m.

University of Washington's basketball team won 14 games to capture its fourth straight championship of the northern division of the coast conference.

Richard (Dick) McAninch, former Harding High athletic luminary, and more recently a football star at Staunton Military academy at Staunton, Va., is continuing his starring on the basketball court for the military school. McAninch has just finished the season with Staunton with an enviable record.

The Staunton team this season won 20 of 24 games and won the South Atlantic championship. McAninch was high scorer of the team, won the foul shooting title in the championship tournament and was chosen the most valuable player on the Staunton team.

GRUDGE BATTLE WILL OCCUPY FINAL POST ON GRAPPLING CARD

Allan Eustace Clashes with Jim Browning in Main Go Here Monday.

BY KARL McELROY
There is one fellow in this world not a proper subject for discussion in front of Jim Browning. That man is none other than Allan Eustace.

A number of years ago while the two men were putting on a wrestling exhibition Eustace carried a few of his pet rough tactics too far and broke Browning's arm. Now Browning is not the type of a fellow to give his opponent the other arm for breaking purposes. Since that time they have had little use for each other.

When the two behemoths meet in the main go of a wrestling program at the Steam Shovel gym Monday night fans are certain that the grudge resulting from the broken arm will play an important part in the match.

Browning will be out to give Eustace a good beating and a bout with plenty of color and action is in prospect. Of course it will take more than mere words to force Eustace's shoulders to the mat and if Brown has any hopes of winning he will have to put forth every ounce of effort.

Browning is in tip-top condition, it was revealed in Columbus last Wednesday night when he defeated Al Buffert, the French heavyweight sensation, after a long, hard bout.

In the semi-final two wild men have been pitted against each other. Nick Bozins is scheduled to go 30 minutes with Clyde Robinson. Both men are plenty tough.

Two preliminary engagements, the first starting at 8:30 p. m., will complete the card.

GAR WOOD HOPES TO BETTER SPEED MARK

Veteran Boat Racer Sets New Goal of Two Miles a Minute.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 21.—Gar Wood, first man to speed through water faster than 100 miles an hour, today had a new goal of two miles a minute.

After streaking his 12-cylindered Miss America IX across a measured course on Indian creek here yesterday to claim an international record of 102.256 miles an hour for a nautical mile, Wood said he plans to build a boat capable of greater speed.

In an earlier run, he was clocked at 101.154 miles an hour over a statute mile in his bid for an American record.

"I'll buy engines capable of 4,000 horsepower for the new boat," he said. "It may have to go to England to buy them, but I will do it if necessary."

The two 12-cylindered engines of Miss America IX can develop 2,200 horsepower.

Wood said he could easily get 120 miles an hour from a boat similar in construction to Miss America IX, and powered by the larger engines.

WINS TITLE

Volleyball Team Victorious in Class B Meet at Findlay.

The Marion Y. M. C. A. volleyball team won the Northwest district Class B championship yesterday in Findlay, winning from teams representing Bellevue, Postoria and Van Wert. The team will compete next Saturday in the state tournament at Massillon.

In the first rounds games of yesterday's play the scores of the Marion games were as follow: Marion 15-11, Van Wert 7-15-11. In the final round of play Marion met Bellevue and won two of three matches. The scores were 15-13; for Bellevue, 15-10 for Marion and 15-11 for Marion.

Marion players in the tournament are Ted Biddle, E. G. Siefert, Bob Heininger, Boyd Tittsworth, Harry Lauer, Henry Mickle, John Rush and Walter Sage. F. O. Rudolph coach of the local team assisted in the officiating of the tournament.

The new California boxing commission has ruled that main events must start before 10 o'clock at night and 4 o'clock in afternoon cards.

Cardinals' Two Big "G"s

THE TWO BIG "G"s OF THE CARDINALS: BURLEIGH GRIMES, STAR HURLER, AND... CHARLEY GELBERT (Below) GREAT SHORT-STOP

With Owner Sam Breadon modestly admitting that nothing short of a serious accident or an act of Providence will be capable of preventing the St. Louis Cardinals from walking off with another pennant this year, it would appear that a great deal of stock is being placed in the "Two G's"—Grimes and Gelbert.

Two years in majors have made a real man out of Charley Gelbert. He was not much more than a boy when he joined the St. Louis chain system two seasons ago; it developed a while ago that young Charley was carting around 195 pounds. But the weight isn't considered dangerous to his—or the Cardinals'—chances.

In that regard, take the case of Frank Frisch, who plays alongside of Gelbert and who has helped the former college star develop into one of baseball's leading lights. Frisch takes off 30 pounds during the hot summer days at St. Louis without so much as raising a bead of perspiration.

On account of Charley's thrilling work in the world series, which was without doubt the outstanding fielding performance of that annual classic, he will be watched with exceeding interest this season. As for Mr. Grimes. He is one of the best equipped players physically in baseball—which explains

Sarazen, Turnesa Lead La Gorce Open Golfers

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 21.—Gene Sarazen and Joe Turnesa led a reduced but hopeful guard of golfers over the La Gorce open championship battlefield today to final assault on the $5,000 top prize of the $15,000 trophy.

Only 87 of the starting army were included in the 36-hole advance. The rest were casualties of the first two days of qualifying play.

Sarazen and Turnesa were in front with 36 hole scores of 139, two strokes ahead of their nearest competitor.

Harruff Named Manager of Calvary Ball Club

J. W. (Bill) Harruff of Forest street, will direct the destinies of the Calvary Sunday school baseball team again this summer. Harruff was chosen by the team members last night in the organization meeting of the club. Harruff directed the team to a pennant in the Sunday school No. 1 league last season.

Floyd (Fido) Robbins will captain the Calvary team this season.

PILOT ENTHUSIASTIC OVER PIRATES' CLUB

Jewell Ens Certain Pittsburgh Will Race Well in National League.

By The Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Whether the race be rough and tough; one of inside baseball or a slugger's nightmare—don't rule out the Pittsburgh Pirates. So says Jewell Ens, blonde manager of the colorful National league club whose fifth place finish last season was its worst in a decade.

"This isn't a bragging contest," says the mild-mannered leader of Barney Dreyfus' bludgeoners, "but I can't help feeling enthusiastic over the outlook. We have some needed infield reserve strength this season. Our infield, outfield and pitching staff will do for anybody's league. Our main worries are illness and injuries, which crippled us last year. Steve Swetonic, whom I counted on as one of my star right handers, returned home to undergo an operation for a chipped bone in his right elbow. He probably will not be able to pitch for two or three months."

A Balanced Lineup
Although Swetonic is out of the picture for some time, the Pirates will present one of the best balanced twirling staffs in the older outfit. Ray Kremer, veteran right hander, led the league in victories last season with 20. Ervin Brane chalked up 17 victories after being out ten weeks. Larry French, only seasoned left hander on the club, posted 17 wins. Manager Ens expects effective work from Heinie Meine and Glenn Spencer, both regulars. Charley Wood may be another brilliant southpaw. Philadelphian's Nationals in a trade for Dick Bartell, shortstop, and George Grant, both are experienced and will be looked over carefully.

Reserves Capable
Pittsburgh's outfield combination of the two Waners, Lloyd and Paul, and Adam Comorsky would make any manager happy. Jimmy Mosoff, chief reservist, and Foster Jensen and Gus Dugas, two rookies, shape up impressively for utility roles. Pete McCannahan, and Comorsky are the only right handed hitters in the outfield. Paul, elder of the Waner brothers, is recovering from a leg infection.

There may be a better infield group than "Pie" Traynor, third baseman; Tommy Thevenow, shortstop; George Grahan, second sacker; and Gussie Suhr, first baseman, but Manager Ens is satisfied. Bill Regan, former Boston Red Sox second baseman, is cast for the utility berth in the inner circle, with Ben Sankey and Stuart Clark, youngsters on hand if needed.

At the start of the training season Ens' "unknown quantity" was his catching department, but the acquisition of Eddie Phillips, formerly with Detroit, appears to have solved the problem. Ralston Memsley is slated for the first string position and Maurice Mealey, likely will be third in line.

SUN BEAU FAVORED AT AGUA CALIENTE

Son of Sun Briar Priced at Four to Five To Take Handicap.

By The Associated Press.
AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, March 21.—Shakespearean words "my kingdom for a horse" were paraphrased today by thousands of the turf followers seeking a thoroughbred which might have a chance against the big short-odds bay, Sun Beau, in the world's richest stake, to be run tomorrow.

Four years ago this son of Sun Briar could have been purchased for $5,000, yet today he stood the favorite by a wide margin to lead eight other probable starters in the second renewal of the $100,000 Agua Caliente handicap and become the greatest money winner of all time.

The Willis Sharpe Kilmer 5-year-old, with Frankie Collettelli astride, will go to the post a four to five favorite.

Lady Broadcast was quoted next at 4 to 1.

Third place in the future books was held by Mike Hall, packing 116 pounds, and Pigeon Hole, carrying 113 pounds. These geldings, aged 7 and 6 respectively, both representing the Hal Price Headley stable, are quoted six to one, as is the Choctaw, which recently bested several of the outstanding starters in a prep race.

British Fighter Takes Third Straight Victory

By The Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 21.—A change in managers has failed to save Len Harvey, British middleweight champion, from his third successive American defeat.

Beaten twice by Vince Dundee in the last couple of months, the pale Briton took a solid thrashing from a young New York preliminary fighter, Ben Jey, in twelve rounds at Madison Square garden last night.

Jimmy Johnston, who recently took over Harvey's contract, was a somewhat embarrassed spectator in the crowd of 8,000 persons. Jey fought a rushing, body-punching battle at close range and Harvey solved it only in flashes.

1,700 ATHLETES TO TAKE PART IN TRACK MEET AT CLEVELAND

Several Records in Dangers as Crack Speedsters Toe Indoor Marks.

By The Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., March 21.—Nearly 1,700 college and high school stars competed today for new glories in the eighth annual Cleveland Athletic club track meet.

An attempt by Stella Walsh, Cleveland's feminine sprint star, to crack the world's record for 200-meters and a 50-yard high hurdle duel between Lee Semman, University of Illinois star, and Jack Keller, Ohio State sophomore, flash, will top the program tonight.

Miss Walsh will run against Violet Hood, the Canadian champion.

Joe Sivak, co-captain of Butler university's track team and national collegiate mile champion, also will be back to defend his C. A. C. record against Albert Morgan, Buckeye Athletic association mile king; Beetham of Ohio State and Anderson of Ohio Northern. Lakewood High school, the annual team champions, are favorites to repeat, but will have the stiffest opposition in the eight years of the meet, especially from Columbus Central, state scholastic champions, and Columbus East.

Junior high events, with 40 entries, got under way this afternoon. Tonight the 725 senior high school and 130 college athletes will be seen in action.

ERROR FREES ACCUSED MAN

Morrow County Judge Dismisses Case Against John Reynolds.

Special to The Star. MT. GILEAD, March 21.—John Reynolds of Bennington township is again freed of a charge of pointing and aiming firearms at Walter Hardesty, another Bennington township farmer.

At the request of Prosecuting Attorney Fannie Myers, Reynolds was indicted for the alleged offense by the January grand jury. Reynolds was said to have threatened Hardesty on the latter's farm in December. When arraigned before Judge W. P. Vaughan on the original indictment he pleaded not guilty and his attorney, T. B. Mateer, filed a motion to quash the indictment because it was not signed properly by the foreman of the grand jury.

Quash Indictment

The indictment was quashed but in another session of the grand jury shortly after the case was again presented by Miss Myers and another indictment returned. The second indictment was nolleed by Judge Vaughan Friday because of an error made by Miss Myers in the date of the alleged offense. In the indictment Dec. 5 was given as the date and Reynolds' attorney filed an alibi statement in which it was allegedly proven that Reynolds was two miles away at the time.

It is said that the affair which led to the indictment occurred on the preceding day. Because of the errors in the indictments he will probably not be required to face another.

FORMER KAISER'S SON CLUBBED BY POLICE

German Prince Charges Officers with Rough Treatment at Socialist Meeting.

By The Associated Press. BERLIN, March 21.—How he—a Hohenzollern prince and son of the former Kaiser—was rudely clubbed by German policemen in Koenigsberg last night, was related today by August Wilhelm himself, fourth son of the ex-emperor on his arrival from East Prussia.

He said that Goebbels, Fascist aid, to Adolph Hitler, were beaten and bruised at the Koenigsberg railway station when police broke up a national socialist demonstration. Hundreds of enthusiastic Nazis had come to see them off to Berlin after August Wilhelm's speech at a mass meeting, first prohibited as a menace to public peace and then permitted on the condition that Goebbels remain away.

"I was struck over the shoulder, then clubbed on the head and ears," August Wilhelm said. "A lady who got in the way was also clubbed. I appealed to a police major who was standing near, but he merely signalled to another policeman who whacked me again."

"I was the first speaker and took particular pains to speak quietly so I would not excite the policemen and detectives waiting on the platform," the prince said, "telling about the mass meeting."

"Even before the meeting ended the police had all disappeared, which surprised us greatly for the meeting was thus left unprotected and in case of a Communist raid the consequences would have been impossible to foretell."

"Later we learned that the police had motored from the hail direct to the railway station to await the arrival of Goebbels and myself."

Theater News And Reviews

TARKINGTON PLAY AT OHIO THEATER

Booth Tarkington's widely read story of "Fark's Son" has been put in the films without detracting from its entertaining and educational value, as a visit to the Ohio theater, where the play opened last night on a three-day run will prove.

Bill Emory (Leon Janney) is a regular kid, but his father wants him to ever be the perfect little gentleman. Bill, just as many other boys, finds this very difficult to do.

Lewis Stone and Irene Rich have touching parts as the father who could see no good in his son, and the sympathetic mother who tried to see life from Bill's point of view. Of course, the play ends the way you would want it to, but not until Bill's father has been made to see the boy's outlook on life.

Short subjects and a news reel complete the Ohio bill.

Little Highbrow Birds
You Can't Hurry Eggs
Why Newspapers Die
Money Is Frozen Power

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

RAY LONG, who edits magazine, gave a dinner party on Thursday for Boris Pinitak, young Russian of great talent. Pinitak made a fine speech in Russian.

Those that applauded violently were 20 of the highest browed individuals including Rupert Hughes, Irvin Cobb, Sinclair Lewis, Noble prize winner; Theodore Dreiser, who writes what he knows; Montague Glass, who is to his eternal glory, invented a chorus of correspondents, editors and assorted columnists, including Heywood Brown.

There was interesting and child-like discussion of the merits of capitalism, socialism, communism, and the possibility of convincing beings that they really don't want to own property. In spite of the fact that they have been murdering each other to get it for more than a million years.

ONE YOUNG enthusiast said: "The youth of Russia will grow up not knowing anything about money, not interested in it."

That sounds nice. But 15 years ago prohibitionists were telling you that young people will grow up knowing nothing about whisky, not interested in it.

Look at them now, each with a whisky bottle hidden away in his or her clothing.

Young highbrows discussing socialism, communism and abolition of property are like 3-year-old children discussing ways and means of making their 6-week-old brother walk right away.

He will walk when he is ready to walk. Forcing him only makes him bawled. Human beings will abandon grasping selfishness in due time. You cannot hurry them in their progress. You can't hatch a hen's egg in 10 days. But the egg does hatch.

WHEN THE PARTY died away, according to morning newspapers, between those that stayed late there was discord, two highbrows forgetting Watt's beautiful lines: "Birds in their little nests agree; And 'tis a shameful sight When children of one family Fall out, and chide and fight."

However, it didn't last long, nobody was hurt, the air was cleared. The talented Pinitak and Russian friends from the Amtorg had gone home and will not be able to tell Stalin. "We saw capitalist American highbrows fighting."

THE NEW YORK WORLD is "dead as mutton." Its former employees have received the last pay they will get. And soon a book will appear, "The End of the World," purporting to tell all about it.

There is nothing mysterious in that death. It was as natural as a watch should stop when its mechanism is taken out.

The late Joseph Pulitzer said a great deal of sense when he said: "Carvalho, a newspaper is made by the heart of its owner."

THE IRVING TRUST COMPANY, one of the greatest banks of America yesterday dedicated its skyscraper, 50 stories high, at the corner of Wall street and Broadway. Among the decorations is a great painting showing the "power of wealth to create beauty."

Wealth can create anything, for it is frozen labor and frozen intelligence, waiting to be released.

Also yesterday the stock exchange announced plans for a $10,000,000 addition to its already gigantic building.

HYMIE TO PUT UP OWN ALIBI

Stories of "Akron Mary" and Others Contradicted in Notice of Defense.

WAS IN AKRON, HE SAYS

Potter Murder Case Statement Made Prior to Trial, Set for Monday.

By The Associated Press. CLEVELAND, O., March 21.—"Pittsburgh Hymie" Martin will go on trial Monday for the murder of former Councilman William E. Potter, denying not only the alibi offered by two Pittsburgh men but also the story of his sweetheart, Mrs. Mary Outland Woodfield of Akron.

Martin will swear he was in an Akron hotel the night of Feb. 3, when the former councilman was shot to death in an East Side apartment. It was revealed in a defense notice served on Prosecutor Ray T. Miller last yesterday by Hymie's lawyers. The notice was given under the requirement of the Ohio law requiring the defense to give three days warning when an alibi is to be presented.

Contradicted Hotel Men Martin's defense asserts the story of Lou Frischman, Pittsburgh haberdasher, and Bernard Schaefer, his clerk, who swore Martin was in their store the night of Feb. 3. Their alibi was given in Pittsburgh when Martin fought extradition through habeas corpus proceedings. Assistant County Prosecutor John A. Fitzmartin said he would confer with Pittsburgh authorities on the advisability of bringing perjury charges against Frischman and Schaefer.

The new alibi also contradicts the story of Mrs. Woodfield, better known as "Akron Mary," who has

Two army planes which flew over the Batanes islands and the sea north of Luzon in the belief they had landed in that vicinity returned to Manila this afternoon. CAMBRIDGE WINS

Light Blue Rows to Victory in Historic English Regatta.

By The Associated Press. PUTNEY-ON-THAMES, England, March 21.—Cambridge defeated Oxford today in their eighty-third annual eight-oared boat race on the Thames.

It was the eighth straight victory for Cambridge in the historic event, which had been competed intermittently since 1823.

Cambridge took a lead at the start, never relinquishing the advantage during the four and a quarter mile stretch from Putney to Mortlake.

The victory gave Cambridge a margin of two races in the series, the light blue having triumphed 42 times to Oxford's 40 wins. The race of 1877 was a dead heat.

The official time was 19 minutes and 26 seconds, almost a full minute behind the record set by Oxford in 1911 at 18 minutes 29 seconds.

COMMUNISTS FIGHT AIRSHIP PLOT CHARGE

Deny Kassay Is Member of Akron Group, but Prepare To Defend Him.

ASK HABEAS CORPUS WRIT

Application To Free Zeppelin Mechanic Set for Hearing Monday.

By The Associated Press. AKRON, O., March 21.—Paul Kassay, Goodyear Zeppelin mechanic charged with criminal syndicalism in connection with an alleged plot to weaken and wreck the Zeppelin "Akron," will be given a hearing on habeas corpus writ before judges of the court of appeals Monday.

Mrs. Yetta Land, attorney for Kassay, made application for the habeas corpus writ shortly after Judge Frank Harvey in municipal court fixed Kassay's bond at $20,000 and set the case for hearing next Thursday.

The continuance was granted at the request of Assistant County Prosecutor George Hargreaves, who said it would be impossible to assemble federal agents and other witnesses before Thursday.

Bond was fixed at $20,000. Hargreaves told the judge "we have information indicating this man is a dangerous individual. He has made statements that he would wreck the Zeppelin Akron at any cost and regardless of what steps are taken to prevent him."

Mrs. Yetta Land, Cleveland attorney representing Kassay, protested the amount of bond. Mrs. Land, who says "I guess I represent all the Communists around here" entered the case yesterday.

Explains Reason for Bond Judge Harvey, in setting the $20,000 said "this is an unusual case, both because possible property damage of millions of dollars is involved, and because the alleged plot, if consummated, might have resulted in 50 to 100 deaths."

The Akron-Canton section of the Communist party issued a statement today over the signature of Harry Larkin, section organizer, in which the party pledged itself to the defense of Kassay in the event that it was discovered, after an investigation, that the Zeppelin worker is being made the victim of "the famous frame-up system."

The Akron party group denied that Kassay was a member of the local Communist organization and declared that the "present attempt to hold the Communist party responsible for the intended crippling of the Akron airship can be contributed only to the diseased imagination of stool pigeons who must justify the large salaries they are drawing."

SAYS POOR CONVICTS UNFAIRLY TREATED

Discharged Chaplain Blames Parole Abuses for Trouble at Joliet.

By The Associated Press. JOLIET, Ill., March 21.—Unrest in the Illinois state penitentiary, climaxed Wednesday by the million dollar prison fire and riot, today was ascribed as due to the practices of "the parole board and the parole board only," by Rev. George L. Whitmeyer, discharged prison chaplain, in concluding his testimony today before the legislative committee investigating prison conditions.

Discrimination by the board against poor convicts, attempts to force prospective parolees to tell on partners in crimes, still outside the prison, as a condition of release, and dictation on paroles by the Cook county (Chicago) state attorney's office, were among the charges made by Whitmeyer.

"Well-dressed relatives of inmates get every consideration by the parole board," he said, "and are represented by lawyers and politicians also get consideration, the clergyman said, 'but if the relatives of inmates who come here to plead are poorly dressed and look as though they amounted to little, they get little time from the board.'"

Warden Henry C. Hill, in testifying yesterday before the committee, accused Mr. Whitmeyer of not being truthful in statements to newspaper men about the prison. He blamed the civil service system, which he said "has sent him 'crooked guards' and attacked parole methods. He had to pass in his testimony to hurry away to Stateville to help restore order in a cell block where prisoners staged short-lived and futile uprisings."

Bright Sun Ushers In First Day of Spring

A bright sun ushered in the spring season in Marion at 9:07 a. m. today bringing a sample of the warm days in store for the city in the months ahead.

And with spring came the thoughts of housecleaning, spring and summer sports, and vacations. The grass on Marion lawns seemed just a little brighter today, as winter was officially pushed into solitary confinement for another nine months.

At 11 A. M. If today's weather may be taken as an indication of 1931 spring weather generally, there will be plenty of days suitable for fishing and other outdoor sports this season. The sun pushed the mercury up to 48 at 11 a. m. today and the top point of the day had not yet been reached.

However, sunshine is scheduled to give way to cloudiness tonight and to showers Sunday, according to the official weather forecast.

A sure sign of spring was the passage of thousands of wild geese and wild ducks over the Scioto river just north of

CAREER ENDS REPORT FAVORS BIRTH CONTROL

Group Representing Twenty-Seven Protestant Denominations Voices Opinion.

IS SIGNED BY NOTABLES

Minority Dissents and Catholic and Lutheran Leaders Present Criticism.

By The Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 21.—Birth control through "careful and restrained use of contraceptives by married people" is approved by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ.

Representing approximately 22,000,000 members of 27 Protestant denominations in America, a majority of the committee on marriage and the home published today a report saying such practice is "valid and moral."

The report, approved by the administrative committee, was signed by 22 of the 28 members of the subcommittee. Three dissented in some respects and three voiced no opinion.

Those approving included Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., a member of the national board of the Young Women's Christian association; George W. Wickersham, chairman of the commission on law enforcement, and Mrs. John Ferguson, president of the National Council of Federated Church women.

All Agree on One Point The committee unanimously agreed "as to the necessity" for some form of effective control of the size of the family and spacing of children, and consequently of control of conception.

The causes of such necessity were listed as "too frequent and too numerous pregnancies," "economic considerations," in poor families, and "the problems of over-population."

The committee was also in un-

Electric Bill High As Court Fines Man $50

The price of electric service went up considerably today for Walter Emery, 28, of 184 Dix avenue. His electric bill for a five-day period was set at $50, by Judge William R. Martin in municipal court this morning.

When Emery's house grew dark, he threw some light on the subject by tapping the lines of the C. & D. M. Electric Co. on March 15, according to an affidavit filed against Emery by J. D. Preston, an official of the company.

Emery pleaded guilty in court yesterday to connecting his house with the electric distribution lines of the company. Fine of $50 was assessed by Judge Martin this morning with an order that Emery must work out the fine in Dayton workhouse if unable to pay it.

Erie Would Abandon Line That Had Seven Passengers in 1930

By The Associated Press. COLUMBUS, O., March 21.—Business is never so bad but what it can be worse.

At least that's the way the Erie railroad company feels in asking the state utilities commission for permission to abandon passenger service between Africa and Lisbon, a distance of 33 miles.

In its petition the railroad company states that it carried 13 passengers on this line in 1929 for a total revenue of $5.70.

Then came the depression. In 1930 the company lost six of its regular passengers, carrying only seven persons for a total revenue of $21.5.

The utilities commission has set April 29 for the hearing.

LATE FIGURES SHOW BUSINESS IN SLOW GAIN

January Data Compiled by Government Statisticians Reveals Facts.

IMPROVEMENT INDICATED

Commerce Secretary Lamont Cites Evidence of Continued Upward Trend.

By The Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 21.—Encouraged by new data placing the number of unemployed in January at 6,050,000 but showing more recent signs of business improvement, relief agencies plugged along today in their efforts to keep jobs at a minimum.

Secretary Lamont estimated that number of persons were out of work, able to work and looking for work the first month of the year. He based his figure on two reports simultaneously issued by the census bureau. One gave revised unemployment totals for the 1930 census taken last April as 2,499,062 out of 122,755,046 population. The other was a special January, 1931 unemployment count covering 19 cities with a population of 20,638,981 which showed 1,930,666 hunting work. Both these unemployment totals include only those seeking jobs.

Improvement Indicated Since the special January census was made, Lamont said, there has been evidence of a slight but unmistakable improvement in the employment situation.

"Information obtained from more than 13,000 manufacturing establishments by the bureau of labor statistics," he said, "reveals a gain of 1.4 per cent in the number of employees during February as compared with January. In addition, further evidence of increased employment during February is shown by a gain of 7.5 per cent in the volume of wage payments of these manufacturing establishments, indicating a decrease of part-time work and an expansion of operating schedules."

Organization Effective "The fact that the extensive unemployment of the past few months has brought forth such effective relief activities, keeping distress at a minimum, is a demonstration of the success of organized cooperative efforts in hundreds of communities throughout the entire nation."

To the extent that the need for continued effort on the part of these community groups may be called for, there is assurance that the problem will be met with the same spirit and vigor that has characterized community efforts thus far during the emergency."

GOVERNOR LIKELY TO IGNORE ACCUSATIONS

Charges Against Mayor Walker Will Be Dismissed, Is N. Y. Opinion.

By The Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 21.—Newspapers today indicated there was belief in various quarters that Governor Roosevelt would not have Mayor Walker's official acts investigated.

The New York Herald Tribune had learned on unreliable authority that the governor would not order an investigation because he did not consider the accusations of non-feasance made by the city affairs committee explicit enough or supported sufficiently by specifications.

The governor will sift the evidence over the week-end, the paper said, and announce his decision early next week.

The New York Herald Tribune published a dispatch from Palm Springs, Calif., to the effect that Mayor Walker feels he has nothing to fear and that the governor will have no recourse but to vindicate him.

Walker is of the opinion, the Herald Tribune said, that all the city departments attacked by the committee are fundamentally sound. The police department particularly, he feels, is honorable in the rank and file.

Democratic leaders were represented by the Herald Tribune as convinced that the governor would refuse to appoint a commissioner to hear them.

OHIO ASSEMBLY NEARING CLOSE

Republicans Take Full Control of Program for Final Three Weeks.

CALENDAR WELL FILLED

Hardin County Marsh Proposal Comes Before House Next Week.

By The Associated Press. COLUMBUS, O., March 21.—With but three weeks to go before adjournment the Ohio general assembly settled down this week, establishing calendar committees in both branches, and prepared to clean up its calendar.

The need for the immediate appointment of calendar committees was seen Monday when both calendars were filled with bills. House and senate Democrats surrendered to the Republican majority and permitted them to establish committees of five Republicans and two Democrats.

G. O. P. in Control During the remainder of the session the Republican majority will have complete charge of the legislative program.

The house last week approved the Secret-Bostwick bill providing for a redistribution of the last two cents of the gasoline tax, cutting approximately $4,000,000 from the state's share and giving it to the counties, municipalities and townships, with the latter receiving the lion's share.

The bill now goes to the senate. Senator Walter C. Nickels, Republican, of Philadelphia, has presented a plan in the senate to replace the redistribution system.

Nickels' plan would provide that the state take over 40 miles of highways during the next two years to form into a secondary state highway system and then county commissioners would take over a similar number of miles and the township to incorporate in the county highway system. The plan, he said, has the approval of the governor.

Limes' Plan on Program The house Monday night will take up the Limes' resolution which would memorialize the federal government to take over the Scioto conservancy district in Hardin county.

The conservancy district was established by the state immediately after the 1913 flood and it drains the Scioto marsh, one of the largest onion growing centers of the world. The resolution was introduced by Representative Eliza Limes, Democrat, of Hardin county.

FORMER ADMIRAL DEAD

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 21.—Rear Admiral Joseph Ballard Murdoch, U. S. N., retired, died at a hospital here yesterday in his eighty-first year.

It Might Work

(Will Rogers Special) BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., March 21.—Every state in the Union gambles as much as Nevada does, but they were smart enough to pass a law and get some tax money out of it.

If Wall Street paid a tax on every "game" they run, we would get enough revenue to run the government on.

Another thing, we don't seem to be able to even check crime, so why not legalize it and put a heavy tax on it, make the tax for robbery so high that a bandit couldn't afford to rob anyone unless he knew they had a lot of dough.

We have taxed other industries out of business. It might work here.

Yours,

Will Rogers

PLANE IS HELD UP TO REDUCE CARGO WEIGHT

Camermen Take Off in Race To Beat Balchen to Scene of Viking Disaster.

ALL SEA CRAFT ICEBOUND

Westerly Wind Needed To Free Boat Carrying Most of Sea Blast Survivors.

By The Associated Press. ST. JOHNS, N. F., March 21.—Search for the missing and completion of the rescue of survivors of the wreck of the sealer Viking depended today upon an improvement in weather and ice conditions.

Bernt Balchen, skilled Arctic flier, with two companions was at St. Johns, New Brunswick, 688 miles away, waiting for weather which would permit them to fly their Sikorsky amphibian plane over the ice-filled wastes of White Bay in search for Varick Frisell, New York motion picture producer, and 25 others missing since the Viking blew up last Sunday night.

Picture Men Start Race Excited over the possibility of beating Balchen to the scene of the Viking disaster, R. F. Fogg of Concord, N. H., and Al Mingslone, aerial cameraman, hopped off for Syd Eyt, N. S., from St. Johns, New Brunswick, early this afternoon.

They had reached there from Concord, about noon and spent most of the stay refueling. They will seek pictures bearing on the disaster.

Meanwhile Balchen, trans-Atlantic pilot who arrived yesterday was delayed by an overweight cargo. After taking off from the airport and alighting on the main harbor, he found he had 1,770 pounds too much weight in the craft. The task of lightening the ship began.

A report from the New Brunswick point said Balchen and his companions left the airport at Millidgeville this morning and flew to Saint John Harbor to refuel.

The finding of two bodies has accounted for two of the 28 missing out of 155 aboard the Viking.

Rescue Ship Today in Ice

A few miles off Horse Island, in White Bay, the rescue ship Sagona, with 110 survivors aboard, was fast in the ice. On the island were Captain Abram Kean, Jr., master of the Viking, and seven of his men, who must wait until the conditions permit them to be carried aboard ship on stretchers.

Balchen, with Randy Enslow, relief pilot, and Merton Cooper, organizer of the aerial searching expedition, arrived at St. Johns, N. B., yesterday from Boston.

The plane was ordered refueled and conditioned for a take-off today as soon as the weather reports indicated a chance of success for the flight.

Balchen said he did not intend to attempt any part in the rescue of survivors but would concentrate his efforts on searching the ice floes for missing members of the Viking's company.

"We cannot land on the ice," he said, "but can only direct parties looking for the lost disaster victims."

The sealer Eagle, which has participated in the rescue work in White Bay, had another band of refugees aboard today, the crew of 28 of the sealer Sir William, which was abandoned when she became weather-logged. Her crew set fire to the hull before taking to their dorries.

Mining with Frisell in his cameraman, A. G. Penrod, Harry Sargent, the third member of the American motion picture party was saved.

Westerly Wind Needed To Liberate Sagona, Is Report from North.

By The Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 21.—Bowling brothers, owners of the sealer Viking, which exploded Sunday off New Foundland, received word from their St. Johns office today that the sealer Sagona, with survivors aboard, would remain jammed in ice near Horse Island until a westerly wind came up to free her.

"Imogene, Beothic and Sagona jammed and will be until westerly wind. Eagle and Neptune jammed at mouth of White Bay, awful weather causing general mix-up at Horse Island."

LEWIS DECLINES TO DISCUSS SLAPPING

Literary Adversary of Theodore Dreiser Fears Suit for Libel.

TOLEDO, O., March 21.—"I can't say anything about the affair because it might give grounds for a libel suit," Sinclair Lewis, whose verbal slaps were answered by Theodore Dreiser with two fast and very physical slaps in the face at a literary dinner in New York Thursday night, was wary in his comment when he arrived in Toledo today to speak in the "town hall" series.

Lewis was slapped after he accused Dreiser of appropriating 3,000 words from a book on Russia by his wife, Dorothy Thompson. "I won't make any statement on the affair," he said. "I simply ask the people to get the two books—keeping in mind all the time that my wife's book appeared first—and to make their own comparison."

"This morning I intend to speak to Dreiser and his work and I intend to praise him very highly."

At the eventful dinner, given Thursday night at the New York Metropolitan club in honor of Boris Pilnyak, Russian writer, Lewis touched off the fireworks when he said:

"I feel disinclined to speak in the presence of a man who has stolen 3,000 words from my wife's book on Russia, and before two sage critics who have lamented the action of the Nobel committee in selecting me."

BRIGHT SUN USHERS SPRING IN TODAY

New Season Arrives at 9:07 A. M., Figures of Experts Reveal.

O'Shaughnessy dam this morning. To those who wonder why spring arrives precisely at 9:07 a. m. today, Professor James Robertson, director of the nautical almanac who has watched 30 springs figured in on naval observatory hill at Washington, D. C., makes an explanation.

"Spring, known as the annual vernal season, comes at the minute when the sun crosses the equator from south to north. Next year it will be at 2:34 p. m. March 20 and in 1933 the crossing will occur at 8:43 p. m., March 20."

"Instead of arriving at the same time each year, spring will keep mathematicians figuring," Professor Robertson asserts. "So long as the earth goes around the sun in 365 1/4 days, the fraction will keep spring from ever coming out even," he explains.

The mercury rose to a high of 53 degrees yesterday in anticipation of the arrival of spring. E. H. Rafferty, engineer, local government observer, reported today. The low last night was 30. A year ago the high was 58, the low 25.

drivable now under construction at Akron.

H. E. Hollis, of the department's investigation bureau, declared before returning to Detroit last night that he had information which "may lead to some interesting developments." Hollis, one of those who obtained the arrest of Kassay at Akron, said he had gathered "a great deal of information" but that it would take four or five days to assemble it.

Hollis' statement came after agents revealed they became suspicious of Kassay when a navy bombing plane was wrecked at San Diego, Calif., last Sept. 3, killing Pilot W. Y. Xpharraguerre. Kassay, employed at the Great Lakes Aircraft company at the time the plane was built, was believed to have worked on it. He was discharged from the Cleveland plant for alleged Communist preachings.

COMMENT RECENTLY published in this column was intended to arouse interest in Mexico, the wonderful land and people south of us.

The next paragraph really will arouse interest: "Northeast of Mazatlan, in the Mexican state of Sinaloa, gold has been discovered in abnormal quantities."

Two men have brought out 1200 pounds of gold. Some prospectors have collected as much as five pounds of gold in a day, worth close to $2,000. And veins are said to be so rich in some places that "the precious metal is cut off in hunks with a hunting knife."

Exaggeration always comes with a gold rush. But hundreds have started on this rush. 1,600 claims have been filed. Nothing attracts like gold.

Flying of Flags Half-Mast

By The Schaffner-Queen Co.

The hoisting of a flag only half-mast high, to indicate mourning, has become a common usage through a very natural sequence of events.

The custom is essentially of military origin. During times of strife, it has always been the victor's flag which has flown at the top, as a sign of success and elation. Consequently the lower, or half-mast, position has come to indicate serious reverses and distress.

Flags are now often flown half-mast as a tribute to a departed private citizen, as well as out of respect to a military man.

This deference finds a direct counterpart in the sincerity and reverence exhibited in the service of a sympathetic, experienced funeral director. His highest aim is to do his part to the best of his ability, in making the last rites a fitting tribute to the departed loved one.

This is the 21st of a series of editorial advertisements appearing in this paper each Saturday.

Minority's View

On the method of attaining these aims, however, the minority group dissented in the following words: "In view of the widespread doubt among Christian people of the morality of the use of contraceptives, and the scruples experienced by many in making use of them, it appears to these members of the committee to be the plain duty of the Christian church, when control of conception is necessary, to uphold the standard of abstinence as the ideal, recognizing it as a counsel of perfection, and that Christian morals are much more exalted than is generally supposed."

The report was criticized in statements by the Right Rev. John J. Dunn, Roman Catholic, vicar general and bishop auxiliary of New York, and by Dr. Frederick H. Knobel, president of the United Lutheran church in America. The Roman Catholic church is not affiliated with the Federal Council of Churches and the Lutheran church has only a "consultative" membership.

Will Says Prohibition Is a Wonderful Thing for Discovering Large Number of Political Cowards

Republicans Now Laughing at Fix of Democrats Over Rum Problem.

BY WILL ROGERS

WELL, all I know is just what I read in the papers. And I don't mind telling you that since Congress has adjourned, I am not able to pick up much scandal. Course they left an awful lot of investigations to be carried on during the summer, for they had to have some place to go. They call it "junketing," that's getting a trip at Government expense. They investigate everything from Bird life to prehistoric Mamals and radio wave lengths.

Mr. Hoover seems to be doing a little better since he got rid of the Gang. A President just can't make much showing against that Mob. They just lay awake nights thinking up things to be against the President on.

Work all round the Country is kinder picking up. Los Angeles voted five million the other day to be spent right away putting men to work on street and municipal improvements and most towns have done the same. We're kinder like that. We've had a pretty good time this summer just accidentally. Of course the big time is going to be in '32. That's the year of election and as I have always told you the Republicans see that things are fine on election years. Oh I guess in the long run this whole thing has been good for us. I believe we all got a little more common sense than we had before, we are kinder more down to earth.

We'll Stay Awake

In the old days we had had good times so long that we didn't think anything could happen. Now we know it can, and we will be sorter watching for it in the future. We won't let it sneak up on us again.

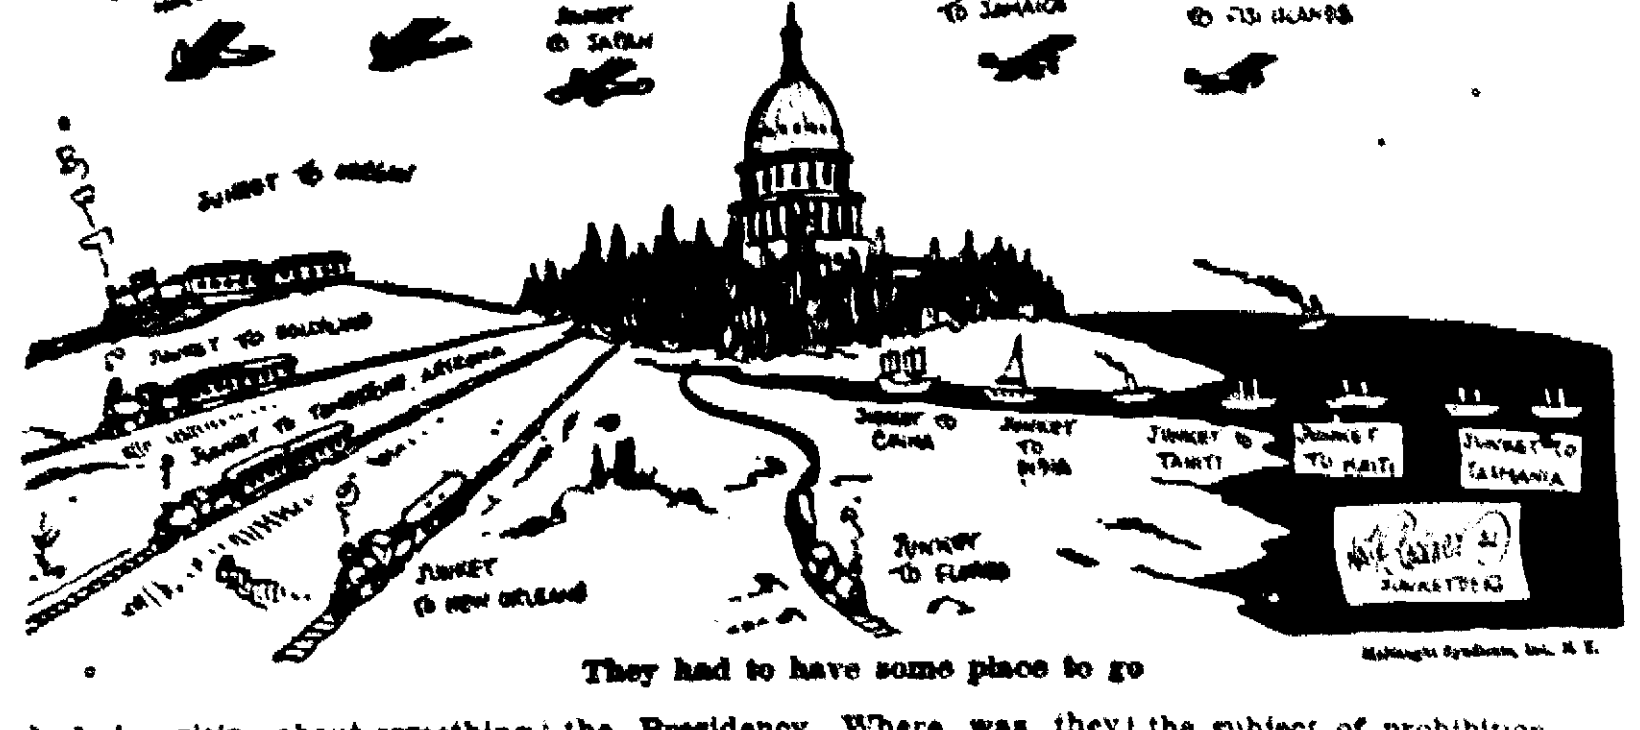

Well a couple of weeks ago the Democrats had a preliminary row. This one was just a rehearsal for the big one. It had nothing to do with anything in particular. They just decided to meet, and did, and when they did, wow. It was a foolish kind of a thing as most rows are. Raskob is supposed to be head of the Gang, and there is a lot of opposition to him that has been held over since the last election.

They seem to think that he, on account of his money and personal friendship for Al, is trying to run everything. I don't hardly think its that way at all. He just wanted to make a suggestion, and did. Well you wouldn't think that would cause a row would you? Yes, but look what the suggestion was. It was on Prohibition. Well that was the Skunk that they didn't want to let out of the bag till they had too. Of course both sides would like to see the whole thing buried till after election, but there is a big gang on both sides that just make life miserable for the ones that don't want it mentioned. Some speaker gets up and says, "Ladies and Gentlemen, I want to speak to you on the economic problems of the day."

"Never mind the problems of the day, what about Prohibition?" And they make life miserable for the poor Devil from then on.

Well the Democrats met in Washington to try and dig up ways and means to get enough dough to carry on another Campaign. They had just called the gathering to order, and said, "We will take up the business of the meeting," and somebody blatted out, "What about prohibition?" and oratory, denunciations, threats, and almost mayhem was committed before they could get the house to order. Then to add to the dog fight, Mr. Raskob got up and delivered himself of a speech that he had been cooking up all winter.

He told em it was just his idea, and that it wasnt made in the nature of an Amendment, it was made just as a personal suggestion. Well that didn't matter what it was made as, it could have been told as a dream, or as a fairy story. The minute it was told, Democratic bedlam, (by the way, what is bedlam anyhow?) well it broke loose. It always does when anybody is writing about something that comes up quick.

Joe for Harmony

My mighty good friend Joe Robinson was on his heels in a jiffy. Joe was for Party harmony, and he knew there could be no harmony when the mention of Prohibition had been allowed to percolate. Course Joe was right. It shouldn't have been among anything that had anything to do with harmony, cause harmony and Prohibition is two things that just won't jibe. (Say what's that jibe mean, I always hear it used at places like this, so I know it is used right, but what I mean is what is it?) Well there was a lot of support for Joe and his arguments "to not start anything that would be an argument."

Well that was fine till another Gentleman arose. You would think that up to now you either had to be on one side or the other, you wouldn't have thought there was another side would you? But there was and that was the one Al Smith was on. He said, "What is Democracy?" I thought it was to discuss whatever anyone wanted to bring up. When did we get so that it was a crime for anyone to mention certain subjects?" He just wanted to fix it so they would be arguing there all the rest of the summer. He really didn't speak for or against, but he did speak for argument's sake. He wanted to see the whole thing dragged out and start the split in the Democratic party right away. He couldn't see any use in waiting till voting time to split. Get it over early and see how they stood. But Joe and the others were for a late split.

But they finally got the thing kinder half way straightened out, and then somebody proposed that they raise six million dollars for the coming Campaign. Well that flabbergasted not only one side like Prohibition had, but all of em. Six million for the Democrats? Why they were becoming Republicanized over night. If they had six million they wouldn't want

DECREASED DEMAND DROPS EGG PRICE

New Potatoes Reach Local Retail Market at Eight Cents a Pound.

Egg prices took a decided downward trend this week when the local supply increased slightly and hatcheries in this district quit buying eggs for the spring hatching season.

Starting last Saturday with a two-cent drop that landed prices at a range of 22 to 26 cents, eggs continued to slump slightly all week.

New potatoes from southern states, particularly Florida, arrived for the market this week. The prices are six and eight cents a pound, practically on a par with apples.

Oranges are slowly moving upward, with increases reported in wholesale prices. Retail prices are expected to increase gradually within a few days.

Apples are scarce. Some of the present supply comes from Washington state, while others have been saved for the market from the last season.

Christ's Cross And Mine

A SERMONETTE BY REV. WILLIAM MARTELL GEORGE, Pastor of Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church.

I am crucified with Christ; nevertheless I live; yet not I but Christ liveth in me. Galatians 2:20.

THE cross of Jesus Christ is the most potent power for righteousness in the world. Dr. Adam Clark says, "The death of Christ on the cross has shown us that there is no hope of salvation by the keeping of the law."

Calvary stands as a mighty rebuke to many things in this world. It is an infinite rebuke to all sin, to the cruel claws of hate, to the gripping hand of greed and to the chilly waters of indifference. It stands out against that superficial optimism, which excludes itself and many people to believe that the world can get along very well without Jesus Christ, and that all that is needed is good intentions buttressed occasionally by sound advice.

Calvary interprets the whole of life, as an enterprise of God's redemptive love. The full meaning of life is not revealed to us until we see men as God sees them, without an infinite value placed upon them by the matchless love of Jesus Christ. We must share that love if we are to understand the meaning of life.

Christ suffered on the cross to make our redemption possible. It was His cross, but I must make it mine. I must take my stand beside Him and learn to bear my cross for Him. I must identify myself with Him in every experience of my life. My life must be lived in Him. The life that I now live I live by faith in the Son of God who loved me and gave Himself for me.

The world has never been able to understand why the righteous suffer. It says God don't let the good souls suffer. Since the gray dawn of time there has been a cross in the heart of God, and to those who would follow God in their lives there must be a cross in their hearts. Jesus bore the cross; it was the way back to God's heart. God is suffering and so must his children suffer if there is to be made a dent in this world for righteousness.

The cross challenges every soul. You are not compelled to carry it, but you will take it up and bear it, because of your love for your Redeemer.

Rev. Gerald B. Winrod, father of the Defenders of the Christian Faith movement will open evangelistic services at Calvary Evangelical church on Tuesday, at 7:30 p. m.

More than 2,000 pastors over the country are affiliated with the Defenders movement. They agree that the country today is in a sweeping revival like those of Moody's day. They believe that only a revival can save America from moral collapse.

Rev. Winrod quotes Roger Babson as saying that the principal need of America today is a revival of supernatural religion for the purpose of involving the conscience of the American people in the solution of social, moral, economic and financial problems.

Coming with Rev. Winrod are Rev. Clarence W. Jones of Quito, Ecuador, Dr. E. F. Veber of Los Angeles, Calif., and Rev. George D. Blomgren of Chicago, field secretary of the Defenders movement.

During the services, new song books, "Worship and Praise," have been introduced by Mr. Quartel. A Trinity song, "Loyalty For Christ," composed by Z. P. Davis, has been sung by the church.

Baker is chairman is arranging transportation for those unable to attend because of lack of conveyance. Assisting him are H. M. Marks, A. W. Bryant, Clifford McCoy and J. B. Walker.

The Happy Girls chorus gave two selections, "The Hop Corn Man" and "Solomon Grundy." Those in the chorus are Charlotte Courtney, Pauline Zachman, Winifred Harriott, Dorothy Midland, Mary Louise Rutherford, Janice Laughman, Marlene Taylor and Coral Underwood. Daily Proverb—"In time of affliction a vow, in time of prosperity an inundation of wickedness."

Greetings, Miss Spring! Permit us to say that you never came fairer or more gaily attired.

The textile strike, which for several months past has involved 34,000 workers in different parts of Germany, came to an end Friday.
Another bit of cheer where great unemployment makes even a bit of cheer most acceptable.

Sir Douglas Mawson reports that the magnetic south pole has moved 100 miles northward since his last visit to it. It's a bit disturbing to have magnetic poles chasing around like that. Some reformer should get a law passed to compel them to remain hitched.

Calvin Coolidge urges that the railroads should be given a fair break. Now we know beyond all doubt that Mr. Coolidge will never run again. No politically-minded man ever would think of suggesting fair treatment for the railroads. It isn't done.

The billboard people profess a desire to meet the demand for highways not disfigured
by unsightly outdoor advertising, but the way their lobbyists work against proposed legislation to prevent such disfigurement rather goes to make their good faith open to question.

The eastern area of the United States contributed $6,222,887.75 to the $10,000,000 Red Cross drought fund; the mid-western area,
$2,302,600, and the Pacific area and the country at large, $919,114.49, California contributing $743,531.67, which may be taken as indicating that the various areas gave according to their means.

Colonel U. S. Grant III, director of public buildings and parks in Washington, is beginning to doubt that the demand for work is so great as has been held out. For several days he has been seeking fifty men to weld picks and shovels on a new park development there and up to Friday had been able to secure but twenty. The colonel should not judge the situation over the country by that in Washington. Unless the capital is greatly maligned there's a sort of aversion to any kind of work there.

Really Directed Against Tammany.

While the ten specific charges of malfeasance in office carried in the accusations of the New York city affairs committee forwarded to Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt are made against Mayor James J. Walker, in reality they are directed against Tammany Hall and the New York political system which, in most of its essentials, is the system in most of the larger and many of the smaller cities of the land—that of rewarding party workers
by appointment to offices in the city government regardless of their qualifications or fitness for the positions to which they are named.
It's adherence to the old, time-worn theory that to the victors belong the spoils.

That Mayor Walker is personally dishonest or corrupt is not charged and very probably is not believed, but it is charged that he either does not know, as he should, of the shameful abuses being worked under his administration and is careless and indifferent in the discharge of his official duties, or is ignoring them or covering them up when brought to his attention. That he has given appointments to many who have proved unworthy and utterly unfit can not be questioned.

True, Mayor Walker can not be legally held responsible for the transgressions of his subordinates, but he can be held responsible morally, and it may be said that the entire campaign being waged for civic decency and against civic corruption is directed less to the legal than to the moral effect it may have in the administration of the affairs of the city.

It must have been obvious to the thinking people of New York City at the time of his election and again when he came up for re-election that Mayor Walker was not the type of man fitted to administer the affairs of a city of 6,000,000 people, a city of wealth far beyond that of many nations.

To an observer from outside the city, it is conceivable that Tammany Hall might have put forward a man of Mayor Walker's seeming type in the belief that he would prove a figurehead behind whom it might pull its strains, but it is hardly to be thought that his selection by Tammany was due to the belief of that organization that he was fitted for the administration of the most populous and wealthiest city on the continent, if not in the entire world.

There may be more in Mayor Walker than his appearance, his manner and his words indicate. He may be something more than a jester, a "wise-cracker" as reference to him is frequently made. If there is, he will have opportunity to demonstrate the fact in meeting the charges which have been made against him.

President Wilson Vindicated.

After eighteen years the very general belief, that President Francisco I. Madero and Vice President Jose Maria Pino Suarez of Mexico were treacherously murdered by hirelings of Provisional President Victoriano Huerta, has in large measure been justified by the publication of what the Excelsior of Mexico City asserts is an eye-witness story of the double assassination.

Two hours after the slaying of Madero and Suarez, back in February of 1913, Huerta gave out the story that the two were killed when a band of would-be rescuers attacked the guard which was taking them from the national palace to the penitentiary.

The story is that of Jose Pachí, chief guard of the penitentiary, told by one of the Excelsior's reporters who has withheld all these years owing to fear for his life. The three actual slayers having died, the story is now made public.

The reporter and a companion had been doing a night watch on the palace under assignment by their paper. About midnight of February 22, they saw two automobiles leave the palace and followed them until they were stopped by a cordon of soldiers stationed about the front of the penitentiary. While they argued with the guards they heard and saw the flashes of six shots. They retraced their way and reached the palace. It was then about 1 o'clock in the morning and General Huerta was waiting with his cabinet. He promised them a statement and an hour and a half later gave to them the story set out.

The details of the killing were secured from Pachí, the chief penitentiary guard, the following morning, who named Francisco Cardenas and two guerrillas, Pimental and Figueroa, as the slayers, stating that the three had deliberately shot their two prisoners to death as the two alighted from the automobile in which they had been taken to the penitentiary. All the details are given in the Excelsior's story,
but these are the essential facts.

The double slaying, it may be recalled, followed after General Huerta had given President Taft assurance that Madero and Suarez would not be put to death. Their slaying was one of the reasons why President Wilson refused to recognize the Buerta government, for, while proof was lacking, the Washington belief was that the assassination had been planned by Huerta and the story of the attempted rescue framed to excuse his failure to carry out his promise to President Taft.

The refusal of our government to recognize the Huerta government evoked much comment and some criticism here in the United States at the time, as did the arrest of Huerta. And when Huerta died in prison in El Paso in 1916,
the comment was most pronounced, the charge
being made that our government had hounded to his death a former official of a neighboring republic who had sought sanctuary here.

In the light of the Excelsior's story, it is easy to assume that President Wilson was in possession of knowledge which amply justified
his refusal to recognize the Huerta government; that, while he might not have been in position to establish certain facts, he had ample ground for refusing to recognize a government headed by one who had broken faith with the head of this nation and who had been party to a cowardly double murder.

In a word, the Excelsior's revelation may be taken as a vindication of the course adopted and followed by President Wilson.

Dr. Alexis Carrel, Franco-American surgeon of Rockefeller Institute, New York, is to receive the Dr. Sofia A. Nordoff-Jung diploma and $1,000 prize award, bestowed biennially,
for his expansion of methods of cancer tissue culture, an outgrowth of the discovery which won the doctor the Nobel prize for medicine in 1912. This later honor, it will be generally conceded, will be no less worthy bestowed than the former.

The government deficit last Tuesday was $735,138,522, due to the placing of $328,000,000 in the public debt retirement fund. This thing is becoming serious. The first thing we hard-working spreaders of joy and sunshine in paragraphs know, they'll be raising the rate on our surtaxes.

While it is true that only four New York City policemen have been indicted thus far as a result of the vice inquiry, this must not be taken that police racketeering and grafting in the metropolis has been merely sporadic. The cases of but four against whom charges have been made have thus far been considered by the grand jury.

British Minister of Transport Morrison has receded from his ban prohibiting sightseeing buses and other motor coaches from the congested streets of central London, the protests of the tourist agencies proving all powerful.
Some of them must have pointed out to him that the visiting tourist in London is held up enough as it is without further raising of the cost of sight-seeing, which might prove the straw to cause tourists to cut out the city
as they did Paris a year ago.

The Ohio chamber of commerce has suggested to the general assembly that the state budget for the next two years be $55,000,000 instead of $43,000,000, as recommended by former Governor Cooper. The state chamber should have a heart. What's the use of being a patriot in office if the opportunity for expanding public funds is to be restricted.

Accompanying the announcement from Washington that the $10,000,000 Red Cross goal had been passed, came the further announcement that 621 carloads of food had been donated to drought sufferers and that loans made to them up to March 17 totaled $15,159,- 058. The heartstrings of the American people ever are touched by appeals to succor misery and want.

It was intimated that Senator Borah was grandstanding when he first refused to accept the portion of the salary grab legally due him as a senator, but he has been consistent in that respect and will not participate in his full salary until next month, when his check will be increased by $208.33, having been elected since congress increased the salaries of the members of the two bodies from $7,900 to $10,000. Let's give credit when and where credit is due.

Editorial Opinion.

THE WILD YOUNG MEN OF PARIS.

The wild young Nationalists of Paris did a better job than they knew when they forced the French government to bar Felix Wein-gartner, the Vienna orchestra leader, from a Paris concert chamber. They threatened riots.
Weingartner, they said, was a wicked pan-German; he had signed the manifesto of the ninety-three German intellectuals at the outbreak of the war, and he had returned his ribbon of the Legion of Honor with an insulting note. They made themselves so noisy that the prefect of police decided that Herr Weingartner's concerts would menace the peace of Paris; the prefect, the foreign minister and the premier conferred and the concerts were barred.

Now it appears that Herr Weingartner is not a German. He was born in the Dalmatian coast, in what is now a part of Italy. He did sign the manifesto, but without seeing the text,
and he repudiated it before the end of the war.
He never returned the Legion ribbon or wrote an insulting note to the French, and his lifework has been a monumental edition of the work of a French composer, Berlioz. So thoroughly wrong were the indignant young Nationalists that they left themselves no leg to stand upon; the government regrets its decision, and it now appears that the elite of Paris will invite Felix Weingartner to Paris, and that he will be a hero when he comes. The event is doing almost as much for Franco-German reconciliation as the famous football game in which the only score was made for France by a German player who kicked the ball to the wrong goal.

It is comforting to know that though the preachers of peace make little impression on the world, the wild young men of war and mistaken football players can be counted upon to set the feelings of the nations straight.—

MR. FISH IS RIGHT.

Representative Fish, chairman of the house communist investigating committee, may seem to be employing rather colorful language when he says that American capitalists are "committing suicide for temporary profit" by aiding the Moscow government "dedicated to the destruction of capitalism and all non-communist movements" to build up their home industries. But his idea that it is highly foolish for American capital to go into soviet Russia in response to a glittering bait held out by persons who openly boast of perfidy, is basically sound.

Mr. Fish is not exaggerating when he accuses the Soviet government of waging war against the political, social and economic institutions we possess. The reds are intolerant even of our religious institutions which their agents
in the United States are constantly attacking.
There never has been any recession in Moscow from the direct declaration of war against the United States pronounced by Lenine. Stalin has departed from some of the policies of his predecessor, but not from that one. He has, however, conceived the cunning idea of inducing American brains and American capital to lend themselves to his purposes,
and the ease with which he has lured ordinarly shrewd persons into his net is really amazing. The rage of Stalin and his associates over the report of the nature of the bolshevist activities, made recently by Mr. Fish and his committee, is the rage of persons caught with the goods and afraid that their dupes will wake up and quit.—Detroit Free Press.

Dinner Stories.

First Man—"My wife certainly serves some wonderful meals."
Second Man—"Well, I should think you'd like 'em uncanny."

Jud Tunkins says a good dog will follow a man, but a great deal depends on how fast
the man decides it's decent to travel.

"Anything new in the paper, Tom?"
"No. Same old things—only happening to different people, that's all."

Wife—"Funny about these strawberries I bought. They look red, but they are hard and sour."
Hub—"My dear, the redness of early strawberries doesn't indicate ripeness, they are merely blushing at the price that is charged for them."

"What became of that live wire salesman you had?"
"Oh, he turned out to be a short circuit."

Boottlegger—"Whaddya mean my stuff is rank?"
Why, lots of guys I sell it to come back."
Cautious Customer—"Yeh! To haunt you, I guess."

"Is your wife having any success in learning to drive the car?"
"Well, the road is beginning to turn when she does."

"Well, Pat," said the squire, "and what are you doing for a living?"
"Nothing, sorr."

"Well," laughed his questioner, "I must say that's a pleasant job; no worries attached to it."
"No, sorr," responded Pat, "cep'tin' that I might lose it."

Danger Lurks in Kisses.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Recently I received a letter requesting me to write on "the dangers of kissing babies on the lips." Of course, nobody should abuse a baby in this way. The dangers attached to this custom are numerous and too little attention is paid to them.

Infants differ markedly from adults in that they do not possess "immunity" to disease.
They are easily infected by ailments that would not touch the adult.

By immunity is meant the power of the body to ward off disease. This protection against a given disease is obtained in two ways. One way is by actually having the disease. The other is by being exposed to the disease in such mild form as not to contract it. In medicine these means of protection are spoken of as "active" and "passive" immunity.

Immunity may be obtained by the injection of certain bacterial products, which build up a defense of the body against certain diseases.
This is demonstrated in the inoculations against diphtheria and scarlet fever. It is accomplished in similar fashion when you are vaccinated against smallpox or inoculated against typhoid fever.

Infants are daily exposed to different forms of bacteria. As they grow older they build up a defense against these germs of disease. This defense is further strengthened by the vaccinations and injections I have just mentioned.

If the baby is exposed to germs that it has not encountered before, or if these germs be in overwhelming numbers, then there is trouble.
If the baby is in poor health that day, it will succumb to whatever infection comes along.

Kissing the baby's lips affords an excellent means of transferring germs from your lips.
Usually germs are present on your face and lips, not harmful to you, but of great danger to the infant. Adults, unknown to themselves, are sometimes carriers of diseases. Why subject the baby to these dangers?

It must be admitted that it is a temptation to kiss the sweet baby. Too often we forget the dangers attached to this practice. If you must kiss the baby, apply your lips to the forehead or head, but not to the infant's lips.
Never permit a stranger to kiss your child, certainly, and better still, include yourself and the rest of the family in the prohibition.

ANSWERS TO HEALTHY QUERIES
A. E. C. Q.—How can I reduce?
A.—Weight reduction is merely a matter of self-control as regards the diet. Exercise is, of course, essential.

"A QUESTIONING PATIENT." Q.—What causes itching toes and peeling of the skin between the toes?
A.—This may be due to eczema or mild ringworm. Send self-addressed stamped envelope for full particulars and repeat your question.
2—Consult your doctor for treatment.

S. O. Q.—What do you advise for the removal of freckles? Are they healthy?
A.—Equal parts of lemon juice and peroxide will act as a bleach for freckles. Since the preparation may prove drying, it might be wise to use a good, cold cream after each application. They are supposed to be an indication of health. Freckles are usually found where the skin is of a thin and delicate texture.

E. C. Q.—What causes the hair to split at the ends?
A.—Usually due to a dry scalp.

MRS. A. B. Q.—How can you tell a cancer from a tubercular ulcer in the throat?
A.—It would be advisable for you to consult a competent physician for an examination.

G. T. B. Q.—Are the mussels found in streams good food?
A.—If the water is unpolluted, the bivalves should be edible.—Copyright, 1931, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Pasteur's Conquest of Hydrophobia.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

It is not clearly understood even to this day, why Pasteur was influenced to turn his attention to the study of hydrophobia. Perhaps the terrifying memories of his childhood, the blood-curdling cries of people bitten by a mad wolf at Arbois, may have inspired him with the hope of accomplishing a truly heroic task for the betterment of mankind. Perhaps he saw himself as the deliverer of the human race from this paralyzing fear, this ghastly suffering, this as yet incurable malady.

The story of Pasteur's long search, aided by his patient and skilled assistants, for the microbe of rabies, and the efforts to discover the means to cure the disease, is one of the most extraordinary and impressive in the history of science. They could not discover the microbe of hydrophobia; it has not yet been discovered. They were not able to make pure cultures of it in a bowl of soup. They had, however, to find some way to grow it.

Hundreds of experiments were conducted over a series of years. Unfortunately they were stumbling in the dark; for there was no record in history of a man or beast recovering from hydrophobia, once the germ had penetrated the brain and spinal cord. But meantime they had learned how to cultivate the virus in a rabbit's brain. And a dog, inoculated with this virus, first came down with the disease, and after a short time showed a marked recovery. Next they shot the deadly virus directly into the brain of the dog, which had showed such marked improvement. Instead of succumbing, the dog actually recovered.

Pasteur felt that at least there was an excellent chance of accomplishing his great task.
For he had shown, in this instance at least,
that with a beast, which has had rabies and then recovers from it, there will be no recurrence. The problem then was to secure a weakened virus, which they might use for inoculating well animals, to give them a mild case of the disease. At last they discovered a way of weakening the terrible virus, by taking out a little section of the spinal cord of a rabbit dead of rabies, and hanging it up to dry in a germ-proof bottle for fourteen days.
Each day they inoculated dogs with weakened virus, for fourteen days—the virus being slightly stronger for each successive day. The dogs remained unharmed; but were they immune? To put the matter to a final test, Pasteur and his assistants inoculated four dogs, two vaccinated and two unvaccinated.
A heavy dose of the most deadly virus was shot into the brains of all four. The unvaccinated dogs died, the vaccinated dogs recovered.
The problem was solved. The solution was to give the doses of vaccine to people who had been bitten by mad dogs. It is one of the supreme triumphs of science.—Copyright, 1931,

Seventy Years Ago.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

Seventy years ago the Forty-Sixth O. V. I., composed largely of Franklin county men, and organized at Worthington in the latter months of 1861, was lying quietly on what was to be the battleground of Shiloh, or Pittsburgh Landing, awaiting its baptism by heavy fire. It has been the first unit to disembark at the landing, and it went into camp a short distance to the right of Shiloh church. That was late on March 14, 1862.

There the regiment lay until the battle broke.
On the night of April 5, companies A and B of the Forty-Sixth were on picket duty—an increasingly important duty as the lines of battle became tightly drawn. Throughout the night the enemy could be felt testing out the union lines. In the gray dawn of the next morning a confederate officer rode out suddenly from a wood and found himself confronting several pickets. "Are those union pickets?" he called out. "They are," was the answer, "advance and surrender." But he chose to take a chance and, turning his horse,
he attempted to reach cover of the woods
again, but Sergeant Phil Glenn was too quick for him. Firing almost into the rising sun he toppled the officer off his saddle dead.
Even then, the forces of the confederates could be seen moving in the distance into lines for action, and the battle was about to break. Before that sun had set many members of the regiment were dead, Sergeant Glenn among them. Two hundred and eighty of the 576 members of the regiment were killed or wounded in the battle, and fifteen were taken prisoner.

Thomas Worthington was the first colonel but he resigned in the latter part of 1862 and Charles C. Walcutt succeeded him. John C.
Nelson of Columbus, was lieutenant colonel.
H. H. Giesey, major, killed later, and Davis Halderman, a well-known Columbus physician, was surgeon. M. C. Lilley, William Pinney, John Lohrer, Joseph Amos, David Pugh and Ebenzer Bickett are names of well-known Columbus men who were in the regiment. C.
Norton Greenleaf, surgeon, and William A.
Baker, chaplain, died in the service.

John A. Heath, captain of A company, won a medal for meritorious conduct at Shiloh.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTYRE.

New York, March 21.—Mr. Jack Pansy, of Brooklyn, is according to a lead in Writer's Digest teaching the art of columnizing. He says:
"Writers wanted to train for humorist and columnist. Will Rogers earns $150,000 a year.
O. O. McIntyre $60,000. Heywood Brown $35,- 000. Floyd Gibbons—part time—$25,000."

A glance at the figures shows my standing among the moneyed stars and should end a lot of dirty rumors that I could pay my debts, but am just too stingy. And it makes an avert sucker of the bird who wants his pump back. Let him go on with his replevin suit.
My public will understand—both of them.

For years there has been a silly impression that I have been able to live on an income solely from my writing. Those close to me know that if it had not been for my squiggle farm I would have been in a poorhouse long ago. When your income is but $60 a year you have to raise squiggles or something.

Will Rogers has one of those Spanish castles with gaily swaying and a block-long swimming pool. To say nothing of a private golf field. Imagine that country jake hummer and polo mallets! Heywood Brown lives in one of the penthouse mansions. "Old Part Time"
Gibbons squats in the entire wing of a hotel.
And here I am six flights up—ringing Gilbooley's bell. But despite my salary I'm fine thanks. Anyway columnizing has been great fun. It yanked me loose from the south end of a northbound plow, furnished two passes to the Madison Square Garden poultry show and honorary membership in the Redbank
New Jersey Bowling club.
